Perspectives on 1990...and beyond

(Editor's Note: Every year we ask a variety of civic, business, political and community leaders for their views on the upcoming year: what they or their organizations hope to accomplish in 1990; what they predict will happen in the coming year; and even what they feel should or has to happen in 1990 to reach certain goals and objectives. Since this is the first year of the decade, we also invited them to comment or observe on what they think the new decade will bring.)

Taking stock

By JEAN GRACE

Mayor Carmel-by-the-Sea

AS WE move into the last decade of the 20th century, we cannot help but take stock of what this century has wrought and where we may be going from here as we turn the next corner.

We can look back on 90 years filled with a kaleidoscope of political revolutions throughout the world, several all-encompassing wars bitterly fought and bitterly remembered, and, possibly of most importance to coming generations, an enormous increase in the world's human population. The pressures put upon the resources of our planet by this increase, and the stresses involved amongst our own kind, and between human beings and other living beings, have brought us to the realization that we cannot go on expanding our population exponentially.

The general awareness of the fragility of our atmosphere and the consciousness of our biosphere and the interconnected ecosystems on the planet have finally taken wing after a long period of gestation. I would hope that this trend continues, and that we are about to embark on a period of genuine husbandry of our planet. I see the next decade as being one in which intelligent and caring human beings reach out beyond their own homes, their own towns, cities, and local areas, to try to make a difference in the world as a whole. I hope that we as a species can develop humane, and ethically and socially acceptable ways, to curb the growth of our population and put our efforts and concerns into quality as opposed to quantity.

We, in this well-endowed and bountiful land of North America, with our temperate climate and magnificent scenery, will continue to be a magnet for people from all over the world. Here on the West Coast we are a magnet within a magnet; we cannot expect to remain isolated and we cannot expect that our surroundings will remain the same. California currently has an influx of some 60,000 people per month. Our best hope is in managing and guiding the increases of population on the Central Coast that are, to my mind, inevitable. I think that a "no-growth" stance is totally unrealistic. It borders on "head-in-the-sand politics" wherein only a crisis will engender needed changes.

For Carmel-by-the-Sea I would hope that we can do our share of helping to guide and manage the inevitable growth on the Monterey Peninsula. We can do that through equitable and strong land-use planning. We can do it by trying to assure that our infrastructure is of as high a quality as possible: that our water-delivery systems, our power grids, our backup sources for emergencies, and our road systems, are all in good working order and designed so that there is a minimum impact on our cherished quiet residential neighborhoods.

I would also hope that this city continues the trend that we have established over the PROTECTION OF our coastline will undoubtedly take center stage in the coming decade, what with issues of offshore oil drilling, ocean pollution and federal intervention looming on the horizon. Big Sur, as it has in last year of trying to acquire, for all the people, certain areas of open space that are usually gone forever once they're developed.

If we can preserve some of our lovely open places for public enjoyment, we will be in a better position to manage the growth that we do have, in areas designated for that growth. As we muddle along toward the turn of the century, my fondest hope is that Carmel-by-the-Sea can maintain its beautiful shoreline, its parks and its quiet village in a forest setting. At the same time, I hope we can be an inspirational leader for the municipalities and the unincorporated areas around us.

As for myself, I'll just repeat what my family is tired of hearing me say, and that is, "We all have to live somewhere in this world, why not the most exciting and beautiful part of it?" I hope we can keep it that way.

Preserving quality

By KARIN STRASSER KAUFFMAN
Supervisor, 5th District

BEST WISHES for 1990 to all Pine Cone readers! Throughout the 1980s our community has worked hard to preserve the unique quality of life we enjoy in this beautiful area, and we will have to continue those efforts throughout the next decade. There is a great deal at stake, both in terms of our spectacular environment and the local economy.

There are essentially three goals I plan to pursue with your help. These are coastal protection, disaster preparedness and affordable housing for our community.

When we look at our region, there is no goal more central than that of coastal preservation. The next decade, beginning with the upcoming year, will finally provide us with an opportunity to design a strict and detailed the past, will be in the eye of the storm as "growth" and "progress" inch closer in the '90s. (Photo of Bixby Creek Bridge by Morley Baer.)

management plan for the Monterey Bay Sanctuary.

Such protection is an absolute necessity if we are going to save the wealth of our local marine life and endangered species, protect our native fisheries, and maintain the pristine state of our coastal waters and views. Toward that end, we need to assure that offshore oil drilling is permanently prohibited along the Central California coast.

The recent earthquake has shown how vulnerable we are to natural disasters. Not only earthquakes, but floods, landslides, droughts and fires come with the local terrain. As chairwoman of Monterey County's Disaster Preparedness Task Force, I have been working to coordinate interjurisdictional efforts for disaster planning during the last year.

One timely action was the filling of the new position of Emergency Services Coordinator for Monterey County — a post which served as the coordinator center for response and follow-up to the Oct. 17th earthquake. From that disaster and earlier ones such as the Pebble Beach fire, we have learned that we require more integrated communications, additional equipment, and a fully functioning Emergency Broadcast System, plus practical drills in the field. With the continued participation of our cities, the fire and police departments, the schools and the military, more adequate protection can be provided to our local population in the future, in the event of a county-wide emergency.

The goal of affordable housing will most likely be the most difficult to achieve, but is the most basic in my opinion. It is urgent that we begin to make a dent in the problem. We must attempt to provide a full range of housing opportunities to our populations throughout the area. In particular, median-income housing for our working residents is critical. Public/private partnerships, fee-waivers, and various incentives must be considered by local government in approaching the private market.

One challenge in the 1990s will be to house our young families, our technical and professional workers, and our retiring seniors, without forcing any one segment to relocate to another community.

In working toward these goals, I rely upon the continued vigilance and enthusiastic participation of our local residents. It is through their help that we have been able to achieve good, solid land use planning and a wide range of neighborhood and social services to date. It is with their continued help that we will be able to face the challenges of the 1990s.

Controlling change

By BARBARA BROOKS

President
Carmel Residents Association

RESIDENTIAL DEVELOPMENT, parking, traffic, and trees are my concerns as we enter this new decade.

Carmel residential neighborhoods are changing. A major goal for 1990 should be taking control of these changes in an effort to make them beneficial to the community in the long term. There is a pressing need to stop the building of houses that are too large for their lots, leave no room for trees, and whose design is out of character with the village.

What are the weaknesses in our procedures that have allowed these houses? Our general plan was approved two years ago at the end of the previous administration, but we have yet to develop the R-1 (residential) ordinance necessary to implement the policy of the plan. The staff, council, planning commission, and public have expended considerable time trying to develop these ordinances, but the results are still forthcoming. In 1990, we need more leadership from the council if we are to complete a set of ordinances to implement our general plan.

Traffic and parking continue to be serious problems. We need to develop systems to "calm" and minimize the traffic and to find some solutions to our parking problem. Where is the parking committee? We haven't heard from them in months. Where is the political will to find some solutions to this worsening problem? Is it turning into another "unsolvable," like second kitchens?

We are becoming a drive-through city and this is bad for residents and business. What can we do to pedestrianize our city? Satellite parking must be given serious consideration.

Our maturing forest is another problem to focus on. A local resident said it best, "If you can't stand the trees, stay out of the forest."

We must reaffirm our desire to retain and maintain our urban forest. Mature pines, oaks and cypress are an important part of Carmel's uniqueness. In addition to protecting the trees we have, we must also plan all development so that room is provided for new trees which can eventually grow to maturity. Although trees are often short-term obstacles, they are valuable long-term assets to our character and must not be treated as second-class citizens. Let's be good stewards of this special place where we are privileged to live.

In addition to our outstanding natural and cultural resources, we also have a group of citizens with an exceptional amount of intelligence, sensitivity and appreciation. It will

Back to basics

Dear Editor:

In reading David Leland's article on the city and merchants at odds, I felt some thoughts for clarification might be in order.

During the hearings on the 1984 general plan myself as well as other business members of the community did in fact attend and speak in regard to the proposed zoning changes. At that time the then current planning commission, since released from their duties by Mayor Eastwood, made it clear that no business views other than their own were worthy.

There was also at that time a very strong feeling of residency versus absentee ownership. Absentees being anyone living outside the city boundaries. Many of the zoning ideas came from college-educated experts who, though believing that they knew how the system of business worked, had never actually been in free enterprise in terms of making the system function.

The then commission adopted those misguided views with the hope that the zoning changes and restrictions would preserve Carmel's business district something like an insect in a jar. In reality Carmel is a living entity that needs to have the ability to evolve and not become stagnant. Tempus fugit, et sic transit gloria mundi.

Unfortunately, another factor was also at work. Many business people were and are afraid to speak up for fear of retaliation. Retaliation has been a standard in many administrations to punish the heretical unworthy.

Carmel has been at the forefront of these types of actions. If one speaks up and gets involved from a non-popular view point, one will be singled out and punished. This is no secret. Yet there are those who still rush in to defend their beliefs. And there are still those in government who respect those people's rights, unfortunately there just haven't been enough of either.

Soon it should become apparent to all that the current zoning restrictions hurt more than help. We need a happy and healthy business district to keep a healthy and happy residential community. Frankly, happiness is where it's at. Happiness is not an ethereal unobtainable commodity. But, you just can't achieve happiness thru repression and restriction. East Europe has learned this.

Let's look back to the basics. Free enterprise is what allowed Carmel to develop in the first place, and was responsible for its vitality. If you want the vitality to return, unleash the creativity of your artists of business. Allow the cream to rise, the dust to settle and all will become clear in the fullness of time.

Concentrate on needs

Dear Editor:

I very much appreciate the excellent investigative editorial by Albert Eisner. The likelihood of Supervisor Strasser Kauffman's support for Measure B tax increase being motivated by her interest in the Hatton Canyon freeway, and possibly also because of benefit to developers in Carmel Valley, is disturbing.

We cannot continue to turn our back on the damage to our global ecology. The time has come to place protection and improvement of our environment above other political and financial motivations. People must examine each and every development in their community in that light. For this reason I am in favor of the split-route plan for the freeway, and against careless or financially motivated development of Carmel Valley. Your ongoing reporting on these issues is helpful.

Even arguments that we may need to suffer environmental damage for the short-term safety of public health are likely to be fallacious. Public health was given as a reasonable exception for increasing water allocations by the new water board member, Bob Russell, whose positions were otherwise laudatory.

It must become crystal clear that continued degradation of our environment becomes, in short order, life-threatening damage to our own well being. There would rarely be a situation when a win-win solution could not be found if we concentrate on our needs and the Earth's, rather than our wants. In the case of water, the answer is serious and increasing conservation.

Providing more water or freeways only encourages increased development, leading to the same shortages in the future, a damaged environment, and even more costly adjustments.

Dear Mr. Paul Davis

Dear Editor:

Wait a minute, Mr. Davis! Do you really mean to tell us that the best person you could nominate for the Rationing Review Committee is Nick Lombardo? Didn't Mr. Lombardo play a major role in developing the rationing program? Do you actually believe he should sit in judgment of the program as well?

When Nick Lombardo decided not to run for reelection, the decision was welcomed by the community. In addition, the voters clearly demonstrated, in defeating Mr. DeBerry, that they were tired of Mr. Lombardo's influence on the water management scene.

So why, Mr. Davis, are you attempting to bring Mr. Lombardo back into water affairs by a personal appointment? The public deserves an impartial look at the rationing program — only made possible by an unbiased committee. There are countless capable, well-informed citizens out there who have never been involved with the rationing program.

We hope that you will reconsider, withdraw your nomination of Nick Lombardo and nominate a candidate with no ax to grind.

The Big Question

SHOULD THE City of Carmel-by-the-Sea spend $1.75 million plus interest to buy a parcel of land behind the Carmel Mission for unspecified reasons?

The Carmel City Council will consider at 4 p.m. Monday, Jan. 8, the possible purchase of 6.5 acres of flood zone property from the Hodges Trust. The property is zoned for medium-density residential by Monterey County and was offered to the city after the city requested a utility easement across a 150-foot section of the property. The easement would allow for improved storm drainage of Mission Trail Park and reduce the risk of flooding Rio Road, Larson Field, and Mission Fields property. Representatives of the Hodges Trust refused consideration of an easement, but suggested the city buy the acreage.

So now we face the dilemma of spending $1.75 million of public funds for this easement, or perhaps, as Mayor Jean Grace suggested, to provide a site for satellite parking.

It seems ironic that so soon after making such great efforts to see that the Mission Ranch property be kept in open space, that the city would consider using this adjoining site for a parking lot.

The council was told in November of a likely revenue loss of $400,000 to $500,000 as a result of the earthquake. I am concerned that as a result of that shortfall and the obligations to make payments on the Park Branch Library building, the Torres Street property and this impending purchase, that projects that affect the quality of life in Carmel-by-the-Sea every day are put on hold.

Homecrafters Fair, but through the dense crowd at the annual Christmas tree lighting I thought briefly that I saw her. Then reality kicked in, as it has many times throughout the days and weeks since her death.

I think I miss most the nonsense phone calls she made to me almost daily, telling me to watch a certain television show, or to talk about our children and other various subjects. She was a large part of my life, especially at Christmas when I remember my loved ones who have gone before me. To have one die of natural causes is one thing, but to be murdered is another. Maybe it would be easier to accept her death if her murderer were behind bars instead of walking around out there free as a bird.

Spirit of Christmas

Dear Editor:

It is refreshing to know that in this day and Scheduled reconstruction of San Carlos Street has been put on hold. The Mission Trail storm drainage improvement project has been placed on hold. A half-dozen capital outlay items ranging from a street sweeper and computer programs to an all-terrain vehicle have been placed on hold. A serious storm drainage problem that caused flooding of homes in the October rains in the northeast section of our city must be rectified. A city water conservation program will soon require another tank truck. Annual increases in salaries and benefit costs place a significant demand on revenues.

There are many unanswered questions. For example, why does the city need to buy 6.5 acres when the easement could be obtained in other ways? Is this site really suitable for, or zoned for, satellite parking since it is surrounded by residential and open space properties?

What is the resale value of this property since it is located in a flood zone and is subject to special zoning restrictions for wetlands, riparian corridors and river habitat? No soil investigation has been ordered, which is something a private investor would do. The city hasn't. Why?

Personally, I hope these questions are fully answered before the city council is asked to spend public funds in the amount of $1.75 million plus interest of 8.9 percent over a 20-year term of financing for a parcel of land in a flood zone outside the city limits.

Isn't it really better to spend the money at home?

age the Spirit of Christmas still lives in Carmel.

During the weeks just prior to Christmas the people of our town donated many thousands of cans and packages of food to the Christmas CanTree project. This annual drive is sponsored locally by the Carmel Board of Realtors, and it provides food baskets to the needy of Monterey county through the Salvation Army.

To all those who gave, we send a special "thank you" for helping to brighten the holiday season for those among us in this affluent area who happen to be less fortunate.

A warm "well done" goes to those Realtors and Carmel High School students who gave so unselfishly of their time in going door-to-door among their neighbors to collect this much needed food.

To all those involved in the Christmas CanTree program, but most of all to those who were on the receiving end, our best wishes for a truly Happy New Year!

Stakes being raised

By BRIAN L. STEEN
Executive Director
The Big Sur Land Trust

WITH TEMPERATURES hovering around zero in other parts of the country, Monterey Peninsula residents can rest easy knowing their pipes won't freeze.

However, the chill elsewhere has the indirect effect of heating up values for coastal real estate, which then raises the stakes and efforts required to preserve the very scenery and natural resources that make this part of California so desirable as a place to live. A frustrating situation, but now without hope.

The continuing work of the Big Sur Land Trust since its founding in 1978 is to raise funds, both private and public, to purchase the most critical properties for open space protection. Although public funds have been made available through Proposition 70 and the recently passed Measure B, these funds are limited and can be only be used in specific areas. Private sector support is thus necessary to help conserve lands that can't be purchased publicly.

For instance, in 1989, the land trust purchased 38 lots on the beach in Sand City that otherwise would have been part of a projected hotel project. Thanks to private sector support, this acquisition has helped bring to light massive hotel development plans that would dramatically change the Monterey Bay shoreline, not to mention creating other impacts such as traffic, water use and demand for other community services.

In 1990, the land trust will continue to work with landowners and funding sources to provide an open space alternative to shoreline hotels.

Other work on the Monterey Peninsula will include acquiring the missing links in a ridgeline recreational trail to extend easterly from Jacks Peak. The land trust already owns 400 acres along the projected route with another 115 acres to be dedicated to Jacks Peak by the owners of the Montera property.

No sources of public funding exist for this important area, so again, private support will be necessary to purchase those properties that aren't available by donation.

The continuing number one priority of the Big Sur Land Trust will be to work with landowners and Monterey County towards the protection of the scenic viewshed along the Big Sur Coast. Fortunately, Proposition 70 provides $25 million to Monterey County to purchase these parcels, but even that amount will not be enough given the continuing escalation of real estate values. This program will be formally started Jan. 9 by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors with the purchase of three scenic parcels. This leaves 100 plus parcels to go.

Without a doubt, the fate of the scenic resources of Big Sur and the Monterey Peninsula will be decided in the next decade. The Big Sur Land Trust will be here, working to ensure that the vision of the year 2000 will be a scenic one in Monterey County.

Beginning again

By LEON PANETTA
Member of Congress
16th District

THE 1980s, to paraphrase T.S. Eliot, have gone out not with a whimper but with a bang. And with that bang, the world does not end but, in many respects, begins again.

Surely, nobody would even attempt to predict what the last decade of this millennium will bring. But now is the time to think about how our nation needs to respond - and, indeed, whether we are capable of responding to the extraordinary events in Eastern Europe and a host of other challenges in the years ahead.

Our nation stands at its most significant crossroads in half a century. The decisions we make in the next few years may determine

THE QUALITY of the environment and how it affects the quality of our lives will continue to be significant issues in the '90s. The Hatton Canyon Freeway, residential and not only whether we play a significant leadership role in the world community in the 21st century, but whether our children and grandchildren can expect peace and prosperity or political instability and a declining standard of living.

The Marshall Plan, which rebuilt much of Europe after World War II, is the symbol of this country's post-war leadership role in the world. There may be as much instability in some of Eastern Europe as there was in most of the continent 45 years ago. We should still be capable of playing the role of leader rather than leaving it to West Germany and Japan.

We also face numerous challenges here at home - an education system that must deliver to our children the skills and knowledge they need; threats to our environment which literally endanger the future of the planet; a drug epidemic; and a three-trillion-dollar national debt that just keeps on growing.

Meanwhile, our nation struggles with a historically low savings rate, which is exacerbated by the fact that much of what is saved must go to finance the debt instead of productive investment. As a result, we depend on investors from other countries, such as Japan, to keep our economy and our government going.

The fact is, at this most critical of times, we are a nation that is starving for resources. Today we spend $200 billion a year on interest on that debt alone. Between that and the cost of defense, retirement programs, and other entitlements, less than 15 percent of the budget is left for items like education, the war on drugs, the environment, aid to fledgling democracies, and hundreds of basic government functions. And we still have an annual budget deficit of $150 billion.

What we need to do is to find savings in defense and entitlement programs and raise the revenues needed to pay the bills so that we can reduce the deficit, and try to meet some of the challenges that face us in the future. Unfortunately, the nation's leaders during the 1980s lacked the political courage or wisdom to make the tough choices. The question now is, will the political stalemate that dominated the 1980s be that decade's legacy to the 1990s? Or will the astounding events abroad that capped off the decade provide the kind of inspiration we need to make necessary changes here at home?

If we want to continue as world leaders, and if we want our children and grandchildren to be able to provide themselves a better standard of living instead of paying off our debts, we had better choose the right answer to these questions - in 1990 and beyond.

Revisiting issues

By SAM FARR
State Assemblyman
28th District

EACH YEAR The Pine Cone asks me to write a "perspectives" piece. This year I read last year's piece before writing my thoughts on the new decade.

Last year I wrote on Hatton Canyon, insurance reform, workers compensation, commercial development and water rationing, among others, all have important roles in our future. (Kathleen Carr photo.)

education, the Coastal Commission, and small business development. Everything I predicted came true, but the issues have not gone away, so, let's revisit them.

Hatton Canyon: The Federal Highway Administration is still holding onto the final Environmental Impact Statement which will have a 30-day public comment period before final design plans are drawn. In the meantime, the state has no funding for this or any other project and will be asking the voters to approve a 5 cent gas tax increase on the state's June primary ballot. If approved, gas taxes will increase by 9 cents in 1995. If it fails, all road building in California is halted until revenues are found.

Insurance Reform: The governor vetoed legislation requiring insurance at affordable levels for low income, non-insured motorists. The Legislature is still looking at a New York-style "no-fault" plan backed by consumer organizations.

Catastrophic health care insurance for pre-existing conditions was enacted. Many proposals, including comprehensive and affordable insurance for all is pending. However, the public costs are too high to get the Governor's signature. In 1992 small business may get a tax credit for insuring their uninsured employees with health benefits.

Workers Compensation: I predicted we would overhaul this area of the law. We did. This was one of the major accomplishments of the 1989 session.

Education: The tug-of-war over Proposition 98 funding mandates began. Schools were given the additional funds on a priority basis. Most of the peninsula schools received very little new money.

The battle will continue in 1990. It's big, complicated, and has lots of politics in dealing with over 1200 school districts in the state.

Offshore oil: Again, thanks to Leon Panetta we got another delay. We will need to continue to pressure the Bush Administration to cancel the lease sale. In the meantime, the creation of the Monterey Bay Marine Sanctuary will occur. One of the goals of my Monterey Bay Task Force will be accomplished. The next is the creation of a world center of marine excellence. We will be seeking state assistance with this dream.

Coastal Commission: Same Old Story. The Legislature funded and the governor cut. 1990 will repeat the past. In the meantime, keep an eye on internal Commission politics in electing a new chair and on the commission's review of the Sand City Local Coastal Plan.

Small Business Development: I authored legislation to help business that suffered economic losses with quick cash bridge loans. Small businesses in Monterey, Santa Cruz and San Benito Counties can qualify by filling out a Small Business Administration (SBA) disaster loan application by July 18, 1990 to cover economic losses suffered this past quarter or the next because of the impacts of the earthquake. The loan application will serve as the "bridge loan" with the local lender until the SBA loan comes through.

1990 will begin a new decade in which California will need to help open new markets for business expansion, invest in our educational institutions and prepare to enter a world in which a defense dependent economy will be converting to a peace time economy. Changing world events will have an effect on our peninsula. We need to work together to see that they have a positive impact. My office stands ready to serve you once again.

Challenge and opportunity

By HENRY MELLO
State Senator
17th Senate District

THE NEXT decade will present numerous challenges and opportunities for change and improvement in areas that will affect each of us personally. Areas of major importance which will need to be addressed during the 1990s include education, health care, insurance, environment and the earthquake recovery.

Having been so thoroughly absorbed in earthquake-related activities these last few months, I would like to inform your readers what the state has accomplished in regard to the recovery process.

Significant legislation was introduced during the Legislature's special session in November. The Legislature was successful in providing over $800 million in state assistance to counties, businesses, and individuals impacted by the Oct. 17th earthquake. As we continue to recover from the serious affects of the recent devastation, additional legislation will be needed to assist our economic well-being. There are three measures I will be authoring in this regard:

1. Provide local governments low-interest loans to make up for projected losses of sales tax revenues.

2. Enhancement of the Mello-Roos Act to include financing for reconstruction and seismic safety retrofit.

3. Help redevelopment districts to establish base-line assessed values of property in the district so enough revenue can continue to come in to pay off the bonds.

Clearly brought to the forefront during the aftermath of the quake were transportation and housing issues. Although the recent half-cent sales tax increase for Monterey County will lend assistance to certain local transportation needs, alternative transportation plans need to be developed. In this regard, I will continue to pursue rail service from San Jose to the Monterey Peninsula.

Two key transportation measures will be decided by the voters in 1990: a Rail Transportation Bond Act for $1 billion, and the governor's Transportation initiative for $5.8 billion derived from increases in the gas tax and truck fees.

Another issue of great concern is the development of permanent affordable housing. There needs to be a partnership between local, state and federal government, along with private enterprise to create a viable solution to our present housing crisis.

Also of primary importance will be the resolution of the existing insurance crisis created by Proposition 103. The formulation of California's future rate regulatory system will need definitive parameters.

As health care costs and services continue to escalate, additional attention will need to be focused on insurance costs, affordable long-term care, funding for additional day care resource centers, intensified research into disabling and deadly diseases, and insuring adequate nutrition for seniors.

In the previous decade we witnessed classroom overcrowding, high dropout rates, low test scores and dilapidated school rooms dominating our educational system. The 1990's must bring funding for new programs such as drug education, special education, bilingual programs, and the reduction of class size in California.

I cannot emphasize enough the need to protect the fragile nature of California's coastal environment. We must continue to oppose any type of off-shore drilling which could threaten our economic viability by impacting our tourism, fishing industry, wildlife habitat and our coastal way of life.

I take great pride in representing my Senate district responsibly by limiting the number of bills I introduce and concentrating

By NANCY HILLS

WILL THE 1990s be the year the Carmel City Council settles the question of second kitchen — now called subordinate units?

It could be. The Carmel City Council is starting off the new year and new decade with the 61-year-old-plus dilemma on its council agenda.

The council will meet at 4 p.m. Tuesday, Dec. 9 in Carmel City Council Chambers at city hall.

A nearly two-year-old urgency ordinance that prohibited any new subordinate units will expire this spring and by law cannot be reinstated.

According to City Administrator Doug Schmitz, the council will only review about four policies that need to be clarified before a permanent ordinance can be completed.

As of press time, the policies the council is scheduled to review are:

- Whether or not the residences should be owner-occupied.

- If parking should be provided on the property for both the main residence and second kitchen.

- Whether there should be inaccessibility between the two residences.

- What is the definition of "existing?"; how long must it have been there and has it been continuously occupied or rented are just two aspects of that question.

The council will forward its decisions to the planning commission, which will incorporate them in a subordinate unit ordinance that has been under development since 1987. The commission will send the completed ordinance back to the city council for final review and vote.

Second kitchens have been indirectly illegal in Carmel since 1929 when the council then approved a zoning ordinance that prohibits more than one residence per lot in the residential zone.

Despite the zoning law, homeowners have continually added second units to their properties. Those units comprise the majority of "affordable" housing in Carmel.

In recognition of that fact, the planning commission and council had included in the recently revised general plan a policy that states the city will "establish ordinance provisions permitting a limited number of subordinate units."

They also outlined provisions that should be included in that law, but until the ordinance is approved, the 1929 zoning rule prevails.

However, a state law usurped the older, local zoning code by stating that unless a municipality directly prohibits second kitchens and lists the reasons for that prohibition, homeowners can build the units using state guidelines. The state views the additional units as potential low- and moderate income housing.

In order to keep control of second units, the council developed the urgency ordinance that specifically prohibits any new units and directed the planning commission to develop a permanent ordinance to legalize second units. The ordinance was to establish standards that the units must meet.

The council did review that ordinance but found the problems it raised were almost insolvable, including requiring existing units to come up to the building code and should any new units be allowed to be built. If not, does that punish people who would not build illegally and reward those that did?

An ironic example of the extent second kitchens permeate the residential zone Carmel is illustrated by the fact that three of the five councilmembers have second kitchens on their properties.

It is a situation that could lead to some legal dilemmas for the council when it must vote on a new law. Mayor Jean Grace owns a home with a rented second unit built before the 1929 law. Councilwoman Elinor Laiolo has a rented second unit in her home and Councilman James Wright has a section of his house with an extra sink that is considered a second unit.

In other business, the council will:

- Consider recommendations for changes to the Monterey Peninsula Water Management District Phase III rationing program.
- A 2.9-percent rate increase for Carmel Co. Service.

City poised to buy Hodges land; Laiolo questions plans for it

By NANCY HILLS

THE CARMEL City Council is starting off the new year by taking a major step: the $1.75 million purchase of the 6.7 acres behind the Carmel Mission known as the Hodges property.

The council is scheduled to meet at 4 p.m. Monday, Jan. 8 in city council chambers to finalize the acquisition and authorize the issuance of bonds to fund the purchase.

Only one member of the council, Elinor Laiolo, has expressed opposition to acquiring the undeveloped land (see Guest Editorial on page 2), that includes a portion of the Carmel River.

Laiolo opposes the purchase, she states, because the city has no specific plans for the property, that revenues could be down this year because of the earthquake and much of the land is unusable because it is wetlands. The city is already having to freeze major city projects until it determines what the revenues will be this year.

City Administrator Doug Schmitz explained that the council, acting as the public improvement authority, will issue 20-year tax exempt bonds that the city will pay off at about a rate of about $240,000 a year, decreasing in each year.

To help pay the first two years, the city will utilize its $507,231 debt service reserve fund, set aside for this type of situation, Schmitz explained.

In those two years the city will still be paying off the purchase of the Harrison Memorial Library Park Branch and continue its payments on the Handley, or Torres Street, property.

The last payment for library branch, about $230,000 a year, is in the 1991-1992 fiscal year. The city is scheduled to receive a soil sampling report on the property on Jan. 3 to ascertain if the site has been used for toxic waste dump.

Mayor Jean Grace's announcement on Nov. 7 that the city had reached a tentative agreement to buy the land was greeted by the audience with applause; little public protest has been registered over the acquisition.

Grace called the property a "lovely piece of land" and suggested that the city might be able to either put a satellite parking lot on the property or leave it as a natural park with a trail to connect with the state wetlands. The neighborhoods surrounding the properties will be involved in any decision about the ultimate use of the land, she stressed.

The city needed to take the opportunity to purchase one of the remaining pieces of undeveloped land in the area, she added.

The property is bordered on the west by Mission Ranch, on the south by the Carmel Sanitary District, east by the school ball field and the north by Carmel Mission.

Portions of the land is considered wetlands, though the drought has currently dried up the river.

Cattle branding was practiced 4,000 years ago. Old tomb paintings show Egyptians branding their cattle.

on proposals that benefit my district. I am very pleased that so many of my bills have been signed into law and I look forward to continuing my efforts on behalf of the district into the 1990s.

Important changes

By DICK HEUER
Chairman
Monterey Peninsula
Water Management District

THERE HAS been much talk about how the new water board will change the direction of the water management district. That's good, for the water board will indeed be initiating important changes this year. Before discussing the changes, however, it is necessary to emphasize what will not change.

Two years ago, in the advisory vote on the dam, the public gave the water district a clear mandate to move forward toward building a new dam. Today, after two more years of drought and a year of water rationing, the district's mandate to build a major new water storage project is stronger than ever. This remains the primary goal. That will not change.

Unfortunately, however, it has become painfully obvious during the past two years that obtaining permits to build a new dam is far more difficult and will take much, much longer than had been anticipated. The peninsula is not alone in this unpleasant situation. Other communities throughout the country are finding that dams they had expected to build are not being permitted by the federal authorities.

A hopeful sign is the recent formation of a nation-wide task force of water agency representatives to lobby in Washington for changes in interpretation of federal legislation. This task force was formed to deal with what it describes as "a growing national crisis — the difficulty, if not the impossibility, of obtaining permits for major new water storage projects in many parts of the nation under current interpretations of the Clean Water Act."

The revised draft of the EIR/EIS for a new dam will be completed this spring. That will trigger a new round of negotiations with federal and state agencies. We remain hopeful of expediting the dam approval process. Given the likelihood of many years of frustrating delay, however, it is essential to do two other things during the interim period until a major water storage project can be built.

First, we must pursue a series of smaller water supply projects to help tide us over until a new dam or reservoir is available. A project to provide reclaimed water to the golf courses in Del Monte Forest is expected to come on line in 1991. That will save 800 acre feet of potable water now being used on the golf courses and other open spaces. Planning is now underway to extend this project to cover the golf course and cemetery in Pacific Grove. At least one new well in a previously untapped water basin may be on line before the end of 1990. The financial feasibility of desalination is under active investigation.

Second, we must exercise tighter control over the continuing growth in water demand. Our district is responsible for maintaining a balance between water supply and water demand. Until we can increase the supply, we have to limit increases in demand. That's just plain, common sense. That's also what the voters told us loudly and clearly in the November water board election.

So tighter control over water demand is where there will be significant changes between the new board and the previous board. The process is already underway to impose reasonable limits on new water connections. Stricter water conservation measures are also in the works. These will focus on replacing water fixtures with newer fixtures that use less water.

Next month we will receive the final EIR on our water allocation program. It is through the allocation program that the district advises the six cities in the district and the county how much water they have available for growth. The EIR is likely to tell us that our long-term water supply is already overcommitted. This important EIR will become the key document in the district's long range planning to keep water supply and water demand in balance.

Unfortunately, rationing is required to offset the short-term impacts of the current drought. Although rainfall during November and December was far below normal, there is still hope for adequate rainfall this winter, as January, February and March are our main rainfall months. One or two really strong storms in March, with lots of run-off, can make the difference between having to go to 40 percent rationing, staying with the current 20 percent, or being able to lift rationing altogether.

The water board will decide in March what level of rationing, if any, is required for the coming year. In making that decision, one important factor will be the success of the rationing program to date. Our community reduced its water consumption by almost 30 percent during 1989. That's an outstanding achievement. The water that was saved is still in the ground, available to be pumped out to help meet our needs in 1990. That greatly improves our ability to withstand what may be our fourth drought year in a row.

Forty years of service

By JOHN L. FREITAS
Executive Director
Carmel Foundation

1990 WILL usher in the Carmel Foundation's fourth decade, specifically on April 21 the foundation will celebrate 40 years of continuing service.

Plans are underway to commemorate this anniversary and announcements will follow. It was in 1948 that a small group with vision first began to discuss the need for a special type of organization to serve the older citizens of the Carmel area. After two years of planning, this dream became reality in 1950 and has developed over the years and decades to serve a membership of 4,000.

The foundation owes its long-term development and success to a perfect blending of five ingredients: generous members, active volunteers, dedicated staff, an involved board of directors, and a supportive community.

The members, through their annual donations and bequests, have provided the necessary financial support thus enabling the development and continuation of vital services and programs. There is an active volunteer corps participating with the staff in all aspects of the foundation.

The staff demonstrate daily a special caring that is clearly sincere. The board of directors has contributed a rich history of guidance, leadership and stability which has witnessed phenomenal growth from a very small organization with an annual budget below $9,000 to its present size which covers four locations and an annual operating budget of $700,000. The community, through its service clubs, organizations and citizenry have supported and enhanced the foundation's successful development.

The common thread throughout these 40 years has been a consistent demonstration of an organization with a heart - coined by the phrase "An Adventure in Neighborliness." Always, there has been a striving to respond to real membership needs.

Thus, today, the long and exhausting listing of services and programs is indeed impressive. Members may choose from among 40 classes and activities, utilize the tour services department for stimulating trips to exciting Bay Area locales, or check-out a library book. Nutritious and price sensitive meals are served four days each week, over 14,000 annually. A Social Services department is available for assistance and consultation in those times of special need. Low-income housing for 48, a Residential Care Program for six individuals and a Respite Care Program are also administered by this department.

On Saturdays, members choose from art class, music appreciation, a movie, ballroom dancing and of course a foundation tradition - refreshments. Sundays are special. Friends come to visit, celebrate a birthday, and enjoy the warmth of the fire and have tea and sandwiches.

Volunteer opportunities abound at the foundation. Members select from a wide variety of ways to participate in the Adventure in Neighborliness. A friendly visitor role, assisting with the monthly newsletter, working in the library, greeting members at the front desk, working in the garden, delivering a meal to the homebound - these are only a few of the extensive ways foundation members volunteer and share.

1990 will be another year in the continuing development of The Carmel Foundation. Success will be determined on a daily basis in a number of ways - some dramatic, others quite unobtrusively. On one day 125 meals will be served, on another day a tour for 36 will depart for San Francisco, on another day the foundation's van - "Vango," will provide necessary transportation, on still another day a volunteer assignment and match will be made between two people.

For 40 years there has been a tradition of people coming to the foundation to visit, share and partake - a truly remarkable Adventure in Neighborliness.

Moving forward

By MICHAEL ZAMBORY
General Manager
Carmel Sanitary District

THE CARMEL Sanitary District, soon to be known as the Carmel Area Wastewater District, is in the business of collecting, treating and disposing of wastewater. Its customers include the residents and businesses within Carmel-by-the-Sea, Pebble Beach and the county area near the mouth of the Carmel Valley.

The district's sewage treatment plant is located on the south bank of the Carmel River, 1,000 feet west of the Highway 1 bridge. The plant produces a secondary effluent which is disposed of through a 600-foot-long outfall pipe into Carmel Bay at a depth of 30 feet. The bay is continuously monitored for any adverse effects from this discharge. No such effects have occurred during these many years.

There are three specific areas of concern facing the district this forthcoming year: 1) reclamation of the secondary effluent discharge; 2) continued effort toward prevention of sewage overflows from the collection system pipelines and 3) ongoing monitoring of the collection system and treatment facility in relation to the effects of low flows due to water conservation, water rationing, and the drought.

With regard to wastewater reclamation, we anticipate that the design drawings necessary to the construction of the project will be completed during the 1990 calendar year. If so, construction could begin late in 1990 with all seven golf courses in the Del Monte Forest receiving reclaimed water for irrigation by the summer of 1992. We have already filed permit applications with the Coastal Commission, Monterey County Planning Department, Corps of Engineers, City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and the Air Quality Control Board. Some of these permits have just recently been approved.

Another ongoing concern is the overflow of raw sewage onto private property due to stoppages within the pipelines of the collection system. Each sewer main in the district is cleaned at least once each year. However, it remains impossible to prevent sewer stoppages because no one can control what goes into the sewerage system. The law requires that every property connected to the sewerage system have an operable overflow device installed on the house lateral. These overflow devices permit the backed up sewage from a stopped up sewer to flow out onto the ground rather than onto the bathroom floor.

The district offers free inspection service for these overflow devices. Phone us at 624-1248 for an inspection. With joint effort, we can reduce the number of incidences of sewage overflow.

Our third major concern at this time is the potential effect of reduced flows on our sewerage system and treatment facility. Drought conditions, water conservation and water rationing have caused a 30 percent decrease in the quantity of flow through our system. However, the total solids content of the sewage remains the same and therein lies the problem. We depend upon the flow within the pipes to scour the pipe walls and thereby produce a self-cleansing action. Gravity sewer systems are designed specifically to perform this function. When liquid content is reduced and solids remain the same, there is a tendency for the solids to settle out creating conditions conducive to sewer stop-

R-4 zoning issue may be settled

By NANCY HILLS

THE CARMEL City Council could make history at its Jan. 9 meeting when it votes on an ordinance that would finally settle the squabble over zoning in the R-4 zone.

The Carmel Planning Commission in December settled on zoning regulations it would recommend to the council, including keeping density at 33 units per acre.

For about 10 years, successive Carmel city governments have created and revised plans for the northeastern-most commercial section of town, which incorporates the area between Torres and Mission streets and Third and Fourth avenues.

A mixture of residences, city facilities, motels and businesses, the area was intended as a buffer zone between the residential and commercial district and an area for apartments. But property owners, neighboring residents and the city could not agree on what a fair density and commercial zoning for the multi-use area.

The situation reached a head in 1987, when a proposed specific plan included provisions to change the density from 33 units per acre to 66 units per acre along Junipero Street.

The increased density created a public outcry against the specific plan and a demand that the city conduct an environmental report on the area before any zoning was changed.

The controversy also spurred the city council to purchase the largest single developable site in the zone — the Handley property — for $2.5 million.

Since then, public interest in zoning in the area has tapered off and the city hopes to complete the process with a new ordinance which will have its first reading Tuesday, Jan. 9.

In that ordinance, the commission recommends that the city should:

- Keep density at 33 units per acre, which allows three units on a 4,000 or 5,000 square foot property.
- Allow apartments or condominiums or a projects that include both.

- Allow any business permitted in the residential-commercial zone, which includes the existing businesses in the R-4, but prohibit new commercial square footage.

- Increase the required open space from 20 percent to 45 percent of a lot or building site.

- Increase the landscape requirement from 8 percent to 27 percent.

- Reduce permitted building coverage from 80 percent to 55 percent.

- Reduce allowed building height from 30 feet to 26 feet.

- Permit a total allowed floor area on a site of 90 percent.

- Increase front setbacks to 10 feet from 5 feet and allow flexibility for property owners pages. These increased solids also create additional problems at the treatment facility.

Because of sluggish travel and high solids content, the sewage changes characteristics and arrives at the treatment plant unable to settle in the primary clarifiers as a sludge. It spills over the weirs as a colloidal mass and creates operational problems in the aeration system, usually resolved by the addition of certain polymers. The bottom line is the effect all of this has on our capability of producing a high quality of treated effluent for discharge to Carmel Bay.

In summary, 1990 will see our continued pursuit of the production of reclaimed wastewater; the challenge of preventing sewer overflows onto private property; and our surveillance of the effect of reduced water flows on our sewerage system and treatment facility. We invite your inquiry.

Incidentally, the Carmel Sanitary District is changing its name to the Carmel Area Wastewater District. The board of directors believes the new name is more descriptive of the function of the District. Another bit of news is that the district now has its own permanent office and boardroom facility at 3945 Rio Road at the mouth of the Carmel Valley. We invite you to visit.

Water board will consider limits on connections

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District will undoubtedly be entertaining many builders and contractors next Monday night when it discusses a permanent ordinance to limit water meter connections.

The water board is scheduled to meet 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 8 at Martin Luther King Middle School, 1713 Broadway, Seaside.

The board will discuss what it will include in an ordinance to limit water meter connections at the meeting and vote on the ordinance at its Jan. 24 meeting.

The ordinance will replace the current urgency ordinance that has placed a moratorium on all water meter connections.

Water board chairman Dick Heuer explained that the board must decide:

- What types of projects will get a permit and what will not. The board has considered permitting projects for vacant lots of record, projects in process, public projects, remodels that do not increase water use and perhaps building for non-profit agencies as the types of projects that will receive.

- How to define which projects are considered "in process"; how far along the permitting process is in either cities or Monterey County must be before it is considered in process.

- When to lift the limitations. That could be when rationing ends, when the district certifies the allocation environmental impact report, or when an interim or major water project is complete, which could be years.

Members of the building trades have protested the limitation, stating that it will financially devastate the industry.

STILL IN the business district: "You can please some of the people some of the time, but..." On a recent Sunday afternoon one customer in a San Carlos Street store left in such a huff about something or other that she banged the door on her way out. Banged it so hard that all the glass in the door shattered!

CARMEL'S "FINEST" can be whimsical. One officer to another, on the evening of the Carmel Christmas celebration: "Let me know when Officer Claus arrives."

PERSONAL NOTE: I've been asked who took the fine picture that appears at the head of this column and I'm happy to inform: it was taken by my son, George, who in addition to his work as director of volunteer services for Suicide Prevention and Crisis Center of San Mateo County, is a freelance photographer specializing in weddings and making his relatives look good.

THE AD might have read: "We need men and women, all ages, to stand and sit out-of-doors in freezing weather for 14 1/2 hours of intermittent activity. One 'lunch' break. Four portable toilets for 120 people. Salary? $50."

Of course I jumped at the chance! As did 119 other would-be actors, has-been actors, students and assorted others. From 10:30 on a bright but very cold Saturday morning in Santa Cruz to 1 am. on Sunday, with temperatures below 40 degrees at times, we "extras" stood, sat, walked, mimed, smiled - on cue. The result of all this masochistic sport may be seen in a CBS "Movie of the Week" on television sometime in May. Elliott Gould and Valerie Harper star in I Want Him Back, a comedy of mid-life crisis. You may or may not see me in the front row at a wedding, here and there at the reception - all out-of-doors. The only other localite I saw on the set was attractive, talented Sandy Sidener, hired as stand-in for Valerie Harper and making herself useful in other ways as well.

It was more than an hour after I crawled into bed early Sunday morning before I stopped shaking with cold; the word "chill" had taken on new meaning. Would I do it again? Yes. On second thought, make that maybe.

IF YOU read the "Fire Log" in this newspaper, did you catch the one on Dec. 5? "Mission and Seventh: assistance to police department. Ventilated store sprayed with tear gas."

Tear gas - in Carmel? These are the facts, m'am: It began with an attempted hold-up in the store. When a man came in and approached the clerk, demanding money, the clerk called to someone in the back of the store. Discombobulated, the would-be thief started to leave. But on the way out he

AS A former copy editor and proofreader I do get wrought up at times. For example, why do some people - especially law enforcement officers and talk show hosts - insist on calling criminals and like, "gentlemen"? A talk show host recently said to the husband of a murdered woman: "Do you think you could sleep better if this gentleman were put to death?"

In my dictionary a gentleman is identified as "a man of noble birth or superior social position." Well, I guess a murderer could be that. The definition continues, however: "A polite, gracious or considerate man with high standards of propriety or correct behavior." Well, hardly! Nevertheless, the word is used quite often in reference to criminals. There is an acceptable alternative, of course: man. For some reason this word is hard for some people to use, while the same is not true for the word woman. You seldom, if ever, hear "lady" used to describe a female criminal. Why?

DINNER WAS late for the residents of one block on Casanova Street recently when a gas line ruptured where a PG&E crew had been working; Carmel police officers went door to door asking people to leave their homes.

The evacuees gathered at Casanova and 10th. That is, all except one elderly woman who refused to leave her home, locking herself in. That was nicely handled by the police officers, who decided to let her stay in her home unless the situation became more critical. Another woman, in her 90s and upset by all the excitement, was given oxygen at the scene. A little later, her daughter came to take care of her. Another resident told police she had left something in her oven; she was escorted back to her house to take care of that. The ever-cautious police did not let another resident go back to turn off an electric blanket, saying, "No, we didn't want to activate those switches."

When it appeared that evacuation could be longer than just a few minutes (because special equipment had to be brought to the scene to lift the heavy iron plate covering the ruptured pipe), the Red Cross was called and ever-ready Laurie Schumann agreed to open the Carmel chapter house so the

Water board to consider tighter restrictions on golf courses

By NANCY HILLS

SHOULD PENINSULA golf courses' water use be rationed as much as 40 percent while the rest of the peninsula stays at 20 percent?

The Monterey Peninsula Water Management District board will consider that question — increasing rationing for open space irrigation — a move that would include all peninsula golf courses.

At its Dec. 4 meeting, the board had discussed putting turf watering on a stricter water diet than other parts of the peninsula, up to a maximum of 40 percent. It will again pick up the topic at its next meeting, scheduled for 7 p.m. Monday, Jan. 8 at Martin Luther King Middle School Auditorium, 1713 Broadway, Seaside.

Water board chairman Dick Heuer explained that at its Jan. 8 meeting, the board will probably form a committee from golf course owners and operators to develop a formula or program that would impose cut-backs evenly.

Rancho Canada Golf Club, operated by former water board chairman Nick Lombardo, has suggested to the water board that the golf courses pay for and the district hire, a turf consultant to help develop an equitable rationing plan.

"We have to develop a procedure that would treat all fairly and equally. They all have different problems in terms of climate and soil conditions," Heuer said.

"Some categories can be cut more than others," Heuer added, and golf course and greenbelt watering are two of those areas.

He has received more complaints about golf course watering than any other use during current rationing, he added.

Quail Lodge and The Pebble Beach Co. both have submitted letters to the district in response to the possible change in rationing of golf courses.

"If I understand some of the figures supplied by your district, the golf courses use approximately 10 percent or less of the total consumption, whereas the residents use approximately 60 percent," wrote Ed Haber, Quail Lodge owner. "While everyone may not care whether or not people play golf, I think it should be pointed out that the little bit of water saved by specifically targeting golf courses will not benefit the individual, in the community, much more than about 5 or 6 gallons per day per person."

"Whereas, the public will suffer greatly due to the fact that many services that are supported by the hotel room tax will have to be cut because about 30 percent of the people who stay at the hotels all over the peninsula come to play golf. We anticipate a minimum of 20 percent of the industry's employees will have to be laid off."

Haber suggests that "every element of the community be rationed the same since a 40-percent cut of the 10 percent that the golf courses use, whether it be voluntary or involuntary, really doesn't accomplish anything except hardship for those who live amongst us."

Pebble Beach Co. Vice President Mark Verbonich also sent a letter on behalf of the company that states even with the current 20 percent, the company's courses have experienced a "denigration of fairway turf and damage to tees." Already one charitable event was cancelled, the California Challenge Polo Match, because the company had "already ceased watering large open space turf areas," including the polo field.

"We generally expressed our concerns about economic impacts," Verbonich told The Pine Cone. "Increased rationing could have a number of impacts, we may have to reduce our hotel and golfing staff. We would essentially have to let the golf courses go except for the tees and (putting) greens."

While this is common practice in many European courses, Verbonich said, those courses are set up for that type of maintenance and players expect it.

"In contrast, people do not expect that when they come to an American resort. You certainly can play on browned-off turf; it is a question of just how highly desirable the experience will be, particularly if you have the opportunity to play on a better surface in other parts of the country," he said.

evacuees could go there. But that was never necessary, for a reason that I find heart-warming and typically "Carmel": all the evacuees had already been offered shelter in neighbors' homes.

The whole incident was handled by a "unified command" of the Carmel police and fire departments. As minor as this incident was in comparison with the situation in San Francisco after the earthquake, it was useful practice for the agencies concerned. The excellent way in which they, the Red Cross, and the affected residents responded bodes well for our city in case of future crises.

BUSINESS BEAT

By David Leland

CBA's Jan. 11 meeting a must

THE CARMEL Business Association has provided ample time to recover from those holiday blues, moving the monthly general membership meeting back by one week.

Scheduled for 8 a.m. Thursday, Jan. 11 at La Playa Hotel in Carmel, the meeting will take a look back at the past year and also look toward 1990.

Who better but to evaluate 1989 than outgoing CBA President Barbara Simmons? There will also be time allotted for members to comment to her on the past year's accomplishments and mistakes.

Incoming President Kathy Ritter will then seek input on the current year and what direction members are headed.

On the nuts and bolts side, members will be asked if the extended parking hours in the commercial area last December helped their businesses.

The CBA plans to take this information before the Carmel City Council in an effort to form a basis for future holiday seasons.

Welcome aboard... The CBA has signed on two new members: Homes & Land Magazine of Carmel/Monterey Peninsula in Carmel Valley and Laurel Burch Gallerie in downtown Carmel.

A date to remember... It's not too early to set aside Feb. 24. That's the time all CBA members are invited to attend the installation of the 1990 board.

No-host cocktails will be served beginning at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24, at the Carmel Valley Golf & Country Club. Dinner and dancing will follow. Cost: $38.50 per person.

Kudos to all... Pebble Beach — The Magazine picked up a merit award in the "Golden Bell Awards," competition sponsored by the Hotel Sales and Marketing Association International.

The annual competition is open to individual and chain-affiliated hotels.

The general-interest magazine is produced under the direction of Karen Hunter, vice president of marketing at Pebble Beach.

Editorial consultants and writers are Ray March and Barbara Laiolo March of Carmel Valley-based March Consulting Associates. Design and layout is by Musgrave & Friends of Monterey, Lori Hughes designer.

Many thanks... The Monterey-based financial firm of Ty Ebright & Associates, Inc. opted against a year-end party this year. Instead, the company donated $2,000 to the Carmel Chapter of the American Red Cross to assist victims of the Oct. 17 earthquake.

New kid in town... Robert Neubert Associates has relocated in Carmel after residing in Monterey for almost a decade.

Neubert, a communications consultant, reports that business has been booming since he set up shop in our little town.

Neubert has worked for dozens of small, medium and large-sized enterprises on the peninsula, with current clients including American Sentinel Insurance; Monterey Jaguar, Rolls-Royce, Ferrari; and nationally known New Age musician Steve Bergman.

His efforts have earned more than three dozen awards at the international, national, regional and local level from organizations such as the International Association of Business Communicators.

"I love to work with multi-national companies," says Neubert, referring to projects completed for Chevron. "But my focus remains on Monterey Peninsula enterprises, both profit and non-profit. We intend to stay affordable for local clients, with retainer rates available, and discounts for non-profit organizations."

A rewarding experience... Bart Barton, formerly of Carmel Associates and currently staff appraiser for Household Bank and Household Mortgage Services, has been awarded the Senior Residential Appraiser (SRA) designation by the board of governors of the International Society of Real Estate Appraisers.

He earned the SRA designation through completion of educational courses and examination, demonstration of skills, experience in the valuation of residential property and compliance with the society's standards.

The Society of Real Estate Appraisers is the largest independent association of real estate appraisers in North America.

Food for thought... Concepts Thru Food, a comprehensive design planner and equipment dealer for the restaurant and hotel industry, has moved its offices to the mouth of the valley.

The business was formed in 1984, under the tutelage of owner Don Flanagan.

Flanagan says that his design, management and food and beverage consultant firm "is the only one of its kind between San Francisco and Los Angeles."

Local eateries using Concepts Thru Food are Flaherty's, Bully III, Clam Box and Rio Grill.

Another decade descends

A VARIETY of ingredients made up the social buffet of the final year of the '80s decade.

It was a year filled to overflowing with social sizzle, genteel galas, provocative new concepts, social flashbacks, future flashes, grandiose ideas to attract the attention and attendance of the glitter set. Whipped up in a hurry-scurry hullabaloo to hype the hip and the hottest happenings.

All were perked with the propensity for something different — whether on an elaborate and elegant scale, or, of more modest dimensions. These life-enhancers were woven with common threads — food, fashions, music, auctions, luncheons, dinners, balls, with all proceeds going to benefit others.

Now, down to the inventory of the year's sparkling ephemera.

MAN-WITH-A-HEART AWARD: To Clint Eastwood for his efforts to help the victims of the earthquake in Pajaro.

HONOREE-OF-THE-YEAR AWARD: Virginia Stanton (by History & Art Association, Soroptimist Club of the Carmel Bay, Oakland Children's Hospital Auxiliary, et al., etc., etc.)

QUIET-PLEASE-CULTURE-AILING AWARD: To Carmel city administration for edging Richard Tyler out.

BEST INVITATION & PROGRAM DESIGN AWARDS: "Orient Express" (Friends of MWS); "Return to the '50s" (Lifesavers); "All That Glitters" (RLS Sponsors); "Liza In Concert" (Liza Minelli at San Jose Center of Performing Arts for Cancer Care Institute); "The Spirit of the Classic Era" (PB Co. It takes so little to make people happy. Just a touch, if we know how to give it, just a word fitly spoken, a slight readjustment of some bolt or pin or bearing in the delicate machinery of a soul.

—Frank Crane

The best thing about giving of ourselves is that what we get is always better than what we give. The reaction is greater than the action.

—Orison Swett Marden

Once you have learned to love, you will have learned to live.

If you strive for quality of life first, standard of living invariably goes up; if you seek standard of living first, there is no guarantee that the quality of life will improve.

—Zig Ziglar

Make the most of yourself, for that is all there is of you.

Returnees: Jean-Michel Cousteau, Harve Bennett, Bill Beckley, David Hedison, Ephrem Zimbalist III, Sidney Poitier.

Simply can't resist bringing you up-to-date re misspelling both my names. The latest: Marjy Mesitz, Neswitty, Neyswitz and a very creative one: Marque Nesurti. It is, and remains, the same as you see by my photo.

No matter how you spell it, I offer social salutes to all of you wonderful volunteers, party planners, and all who attend the events to raise funds for worthy causes.

May your '90s decade be naught or nice (whichever you prefer), and may all your troubles last as long as your New Year's resolutions.

CRISIS CENTER RECRUITING VOLUNTEERS

The Monterey Rape Crisis Center is looking for warm-hearted volunteers to answer the 24-hour Rape Crisis Hotline.
Interested individuals will be certified as Sexual Assault
Counselors through a 40 hour training which will start Saturday, Jan. 6.

Training will include communication and counseling techniques, an understanding of the legal system, rape trauma syndrome, and services available to survivors of sexual assault.

Volunteers for the Monterey Rape Crisis Center serve as advocates for victims of rape and child abuse by providing crisis counseling, and by going with survivors of an assault to the hospital, police station or court. Volunteers work out of their home, and are asked to take one six-hour shift a week and one weekend shift per month. Requirements include taking the 40-hour certification training, a valid driver's license and a commitment of a minimum of six months.
Volunteer advocates also meet once a month with other advocates to discuss cases, and are provided with in-service trainings on a regular basis.

For more information contact Karen at the Monterey Rape Crisis Center at 373-3955.

SCHOLARSHIP AWARD TO CARMEL VALLEY STUDENT

Christian Nagai, 18, of Mid Carmel Valley, was the recipient of the Jim Barrett Memorial Scholarship for the 1989-1990 school year for the Carmel Valley area.

Nagai, a 1989 graduate of Carmel High School, was sponsored by Capt. Sidney Reade of the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Protection District. He is the son of David and Cindy Nagai, who have both served as volunteer firefighters with the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Department.

During his high school years, Nagai was very active in sports and participated in varsity football, basketball, soccer and baseball. He received honorable mention in football for two consecutive years and was selected to play in the Salinas Valley JCs and Granite Construction sponsored East West All-Star Game this summer and played the position of running back.

He has selected California State University at Long Beach, where he will begin as a freshman this fall. His educational goals are centered around civil engineering.

The scholarship was established through the generosity of Jim Barrett's family and friends, who raised the money to start the fund in his memory. Barrett was a fire chief who dedicated his life to bettering himself and those in his community through education.

Barrett came to the Mid Carmel Valley Fire District as fire chief in February 1986, and served until his tragic death in March 1986. He came to Mid Carmel Valley from Turlock, where he served as fire chief of the Turlock Rural Fire District for five years.

The scholarship fund is perpetual and is designed to honor one graduating student from both the Mid Carmel Valley community and Stanislaus County. Each scholarship is in the amount of $500 this year. Contributions are sincerely welcome and are being accepted on behalf of the scholarship fund at the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Station.

Trustees for the Jim Barrett Memorial Scholarship Fund are his widow, Sharon Barrett of Turlock, Director Anne McGowan of the Mid Carmel Valley Fire Protection District and Jack Wilkey of Turlock.

Space Academy trainees in grades 10, 11, and 12 sample astronaut training by using Space Academy's special astronaut training simulators. They spin and twist in the Multi-Axis Training Simulator, an adaptation of early Mercury program training equipment.

Space Academy Level II trainees use the nation's only full-scale Space Shuttle exhibit to get a better understanding of how the shuttle works. Then they use Space Academy's realistic mission control and Space Shuttle orbiter mockups for training, which leads to a 24-hour simulated space mission. At the conclusion of their training, trainees receive one hour of college freshman-level science credit through the University of Alabama in Huntsville.

Trainees choose one of three fields of study. In the technology track, the training includes basic information used by payload specialists. A payload specialist is a scientist who is not a professional astronaut, but who is selected for a shuttle mission because of his or her research or expertise. Other options include aerospace or engineering training.

Technology trainees are introduced to space science, solar and space plasma physics, space biology, and astrophysics. They propose and design experiments that are performed inside the academy's Space Shuttle orbiter, and Space Station module mockups.

FIRST "IN THE SPIRIT OF MARGARET MEAD" AWARD PRESENTED TO BARBARA AND FRED ROLL

The husband and wife team of anthropologist, Barbara Roll, and photographer, Fred Roll, of Carmel, were presented with the first "In the Spirit of Margaret Mead" award by the Directors of the Institute for Intercultural Studies following their recent annual meeting.

"This award recognizes Barbara and Fred's untiring efforts to deepen the ethnographic partnership between anthropologists and indigenous peoples," Margaret Mead's daughter, Dr. Mary Catherine Bateson, president of the institute, announced. Ethnography is the systematic study of human cultures, the work undertaken over a lifetime by the renowned anthropologist, Mead. "This award recalls the generous and wideranging spirit in which my mother recorded and shared her findings and recognized 'both our common human capacity for change and for creating continuity in change'. So it is with particular pleasure that the directors make this first presentation to Barbara and Fred Roll who were great friends and fellow workers in the field with my mother."

Barbara Honeyman Roll is a physical anthropologist who specializes in somatotyping, the study of the human physique. Since 1966 she has done extensive field work in Papua New Guinea. She studied the people of Pere village on Manus

Ties the knot

JANE FRANCES Groark, daughter of Mrs. Thomas Groark and the late Thomas Groark of Carmel, and Albert Barreto III, son of Albert Barreto, Jr. and the late Mrs. Vivian Barreto of Monterey, were recently married in ceremonies officiated by Monsignor Declan Murphy at the Carmel Mission Basilica. After the ceremony a reception was held for 150 guests at the Elks Lodge in Monterey. The bride is a graduate of Carmel High School and St. Mary's College and is employed at an accounting firm in Miami. The bridegroom is a graduate of Monterey High School and Monterey Peninsula College. The couple resides in Miami.

Island, whose cultural transformation Mead documented over five decades.

Fred Roll, a former business executive, turned his photography expertise to documenting the last years of Mead's work, particularly her final visit to Papua New Guinea, and to continuing the photographic record of Pere village's cultural transformation in the 1970s and 1980s. Some of his photographs appear in Barbara Roll's book, Stori Bilong Pere a genealogical and photographic study of Pere Village, published in 1982.

Barbara Roll is a former director of the Institute for Intercultural Studies. Both Rolls serve on its Advisory Committee. The institute was established in 1944 by Mead to support and encourage research in the social sciences. The Institute furnishes financial aid to doctoral level students to encourage field research, writing and publication.

Seniors program needs participants

Carmel Police Department's "Seniors Helping Seniors" program has need for two types of seniors: those who would like to help and those who desire help.

According to Cathy Dampier, desk officer, there are seniors who are looking for some type of community involvement to donate their time and others who are lonely, "shut-ins," or are "at-risk" due to medical or physical reasons and desire contact with someone who cares about their welfare.

Under the program, senior volunteers call participants of the program by telephone from the Carmel Police Department. If for some reason the recipient doesn't answer the phone, the volunteer alerts the police dispatcher and a patrol unit is sent to check on the participant's welfare. To be effective, calls are made at about the same time every day. Dampier said, but the seniors aren't restricted to their homes. If they plan to be gone, they merely notify the police department in advance.

In addition to the daily phone calls, home visitations, tea parties, and luncheons are also scheduled to "further enhance and improve the

The Golden Years

By Myles Williams

There are more than 32,000 Americans who are over 100 years old, according to census figures. This is three times the number counted in 1960. There are about three women to every man over 100. The increase in centenarians reflects the overall lengthening of life expectancy. The average life expectancy of men and women born in 1900 was 47 years. For their grandchildren or great-grandchildren born in the 1980s, it's 75 years.

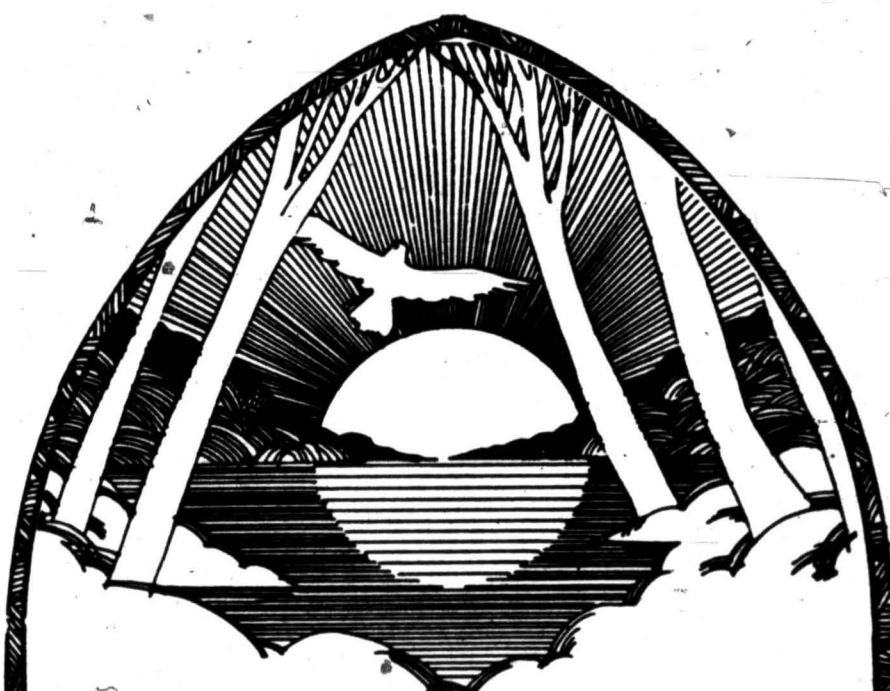

Wilbert Bonvillian, of Houma, Louisiana, is working harder these days than before he retired in 1966 as a railroad employee. He puts in eight-to-10-hour days, seven days a week, building wooden toys — miniature cars, planes, boats, ducks, turtles, and other figures. And he gives them all away. Since 1980 Bonvillian has donated more than 22,000 of his wooden toys to charitable organizations.

Remember When? March 24, 1939 — A Pacific cruise ship picked up a radio message from adventurer Richard Halliburton who was sailing a Chinese junk from Hong Kong to San Francisco: "Southerly gales... lee rail under water...having a wonderful time." It was the last heard from the writer who had won international fame for his daring "firsts."

FATHER FARRELL'S WISDOM

'To fight the good fight'

From Jan. 7, 1982
Carmel Pine Cone

St. Timothy was the first Bishop of Ephesus in Asia Minor, now part of Turkey. He was the most beloved and trusted disciple of St. Paul of Tarsus.

When he was a young man, Paul wrote him this advice which could be the motto of Carmel Rotary: "Stop drinking water only and use a little wine for you stomach's sake and your frequent illnesses."

In the same series of letters, he warns Timothy against being a drinker and a brawler and not to be "double tongued and given to much wine."

St. Paul, like most good men, was not a fanatic. He thought that "in vin media stat virtus" ("In the middle way lies virtue"). He exhorted Timothy to be moderate but not stuffy — to pursue the good life with love, patience and mildness.

Oh Lord, help us to follow Paul's advice, to fight the good fight. May we refrain from counting days but make each day count.

Finally, in a Santa Fe, N.M. paper I read this filler. Little Panchito asked, "Manacita, do men get to heaven? I have never seen a picture of an angel with a beard."

"Si, Panchito, some men get to heaven but only by a close shave." Amen.

quality of our contacts" with those who are shut-ins or at-risk, Dampier said.

'Batman' star Michael Keaton to play this year's AT & T

ACTOR MICHAEL Keaton, currently starring in the hit movie and popular video Batman, is scheduled to tee-off in his first-ever appearance at the AT&T Pebble Beach National Pro-Am. Keaton will join other celebrities and professional golfers in battling some of America's toughest golf courses during be joining us for the 1990 tournament," states Lou Russo, tournament executive director. "I think he'll be a big hit with the fans, and a good fan turnout is good news for the tournament's charities."

Keaton, a golfer with a 19 handicap, had a memorable screen debut in the Ron Howard movie Night Shift. He went on to play the title roles in Mr. Mom and Johnny Dangerous, and won acclaim for starring roles in such box office favorites as Gung Ho, Beetlejuice and Dream Team. He also won critical praise for his dramatic portrayal in Clean and Sober.

Keaton will join many returning celebrity favorites as well as top golfers on the PGA Tour who will be competing for a share of the $1,070,000 purse. Last year's top prize of $180,000 was won by pro golfer Mark O'Meara, who shot 66-68-73-70 for a combined total of 277 over four days of play on Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Spyglass Hill golf courses.

Advance tickets are still available for the tournament, and can be purchased by calling 800 541-9091, or through BASS Ticket Master. Season badges can still be purchased at a reduced rate of $60 until Dec. 15; after that date they will be $75.

The SPCA of Monterey County will offer a class on Saturday, Jan. 27, on the subject of animal behavior.

Local animal authority, Norman Geis, owner of The Golden Dolphin Pet Store at the mouth of Carmel Valley, will discuss such topics as "selecting the right dog," "possible animal behavioral problems" and will answer questions regarding any animal behavior which the participants might be experiencing with their pets.

Geis will also demonstrate how to evaluate a dog or a puppy's temperament as well as discuss what an animal's learning capacity might be, based upon the breed of the animal.

The class is for people only. Dogs are requested not to attend. Reservations are necessary as seating is limited. Call Elliott Powers in the education department at 373-2631 or 422-4721. Starting time of the class is 10 a.m. with no ending time scheduled.

Baritone in concert

THOMAS ALLEN, baritone, will be presented in concert Saturday, Jan. 6 by the Carmel Music Society. Allen's recital will feature songs by Purcell, Hayden, Schubert and Brahms, as well as operatic arias by Mozart and Tchaikovsky. The performance will begin at 8 p.m. in Sunset Theater, located on San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue in Carmel. Tickets are $20. For information, call 625-9938.

Russian Chorus from Yale appears at Sunset Theater

THE YALE Russian Chorus will make its first appearance in the Carmel area on Friday, Jan. 5 at Sunset Theater.

The Yale Russian Chorus is an a capella men's singing group composed of undergraduate and graduate students, faculty and alumni of Yale University, as well as residents of New Haven and surrounding communities.

The chorus was founded in 1954 when Denis Mickiewicz, a graduate student in music, assembled students at the university who were interested in the Russian language. Song was a natural vehicle for broadening that interest and sharing it with others. For 35 years, the chorus has entertained audiences around the world with its repertoire of folk, liturgical, classical and contemporary music of Russia, Georgia, Armenia, Latvia, the Ukraine and other regions of the U.S.S.R.

The chorus has toured the Soviet Union 11 times, and it has also sung in most of the capitals of Europe. The chorus maintains an active concert schedule within the United States during the academic year. On weekends it travels to colleges, churches and concert halls in the northeast.

During winter and spring vacations, it tours other parts of the country, including California, Texas, the South and the Midwest. The chorus has made nine albums and appeared on radio and television in the United States, Europe and the Soviet Union.

The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Sunset Theater, which is located on San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue in Carmel-by-the-Sea. All seats are $6. For additional information, call Sunset Theater, 624-3996.

Poet Robert Bly will read from his works at college

ROBERT BLY, a leading contemporary and legendary figure in American poetry, will return to Monterey Peninsula College to read from his work for the seventh time on Saturday, Jan. 6. The 8 p.m. reading in MPC's Lecture Forum 103 is sponsored by the MPC English Department and the San Jose Poetry Center.

The author of more than 20 volumes of poems, translations, and essays, Bly has been one of the most influential American poets since the early 1950s. He is the winner of the National Book Award, a Fulbright grant and a Guggenheim Foundation grant. He is a political activist, Jungian scholar, student of fairy tales, mythology and ancient religions.

Bly's most recent collection of poems, Loving a Woman in Two Worlds, is considered by many as his finest book of poetry yet.

Bly's translations include the Kabir Book, Neruda and Vallejo: Selected Poems (with James Wright and John Knoepfle), Selected Poems of Rainer Maria Rilke and Times Alone: Selected Poems of Antonio Machado.

Born Dec. 23, 1926, in Madison, Minn., Bly received his bachelor's degree from Harvard University in 1950 and a master's degree in 1956 from State University of Iowa. He is well known for his leadership and concern with social issues. His was the first literary voice raised against the Vietnam War.

Bly and his wife, Ruth, live in Mooselake, Minn. His latest projects include work on a book of selected essays and a book exploring the psychic implications for men of classic fairy tales.

Tickets for the poetry reading at MPC can be purchased for $5 at the door the night of the performance. For advance sales information, call 624-5725.

THE YALE Russian Chorus, an a capella men's singing group, will appear in concert Friday, Jan. 5 at Sunset Theater, San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue in Carmel-by-the-Sea. The chorus was founded in 1954, and has since performed around the world. Admission to the concert is $6. For information, call 624-3996.

Little Murders

Sharp-tongued satire, absurdity and genuine human tragedy comprise the mixture served up by Little Murders. The Jules Feiffer play opens Thursday, Jan. 11, and is an offering of the Monterey Peninsula College Players.

Conrad Selvig directs Little Murders, in which Carol and Marjorie Newquist (Michael Robbins and Nancy Kocher), are beset by some of New York's usual distractions — power failures, obscene phone calls and unexplained shots in the dark.

Little Murders will be staged at 8 p.m. Thursdays, Fridays and Saturdays through Feb. 3 at Cherry Hall. Cherry Hall is located at Guadalupe and Fourth in Carmel-by-the-Sea. For reservations, call Center Stage Ticketing, 649-5561.

The Olio Revue

The traditional holiday offering of 19th century song, dance and skits, The Olio Revue, runs through January at California's First Theatre.

Curtain is at 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

The theater, the oldest in the state, is located at the corner of Scott and Pacific streets in historic downtown Monterey.

Tickets are $6 for adults, $5 for seniors and teens and $4 for subteens. The theater box office is open 1 to 5 p.m. Wednesdays and Thursdays and 1 to 8 p.m. Fridays and Saturdays.

For tickets or information, call 375-4916 or 649-5561.

Cherry Hall pays tribute to trio of artistic locals

AN EXHIBIT spanning 50 years in the varied careers of Louisa Jenkins, Dora Hagemeyer and James Algar, will open Saturday, Jan. 6th at the Cherry Foundation.

The exhibit, which continues through Jan. 29, includes a survey of Jenkin's mosaics on Japanese scrolls, Hagemeyer's luminous landscapes and Algar's recent work in pastel.

'Vagrant' in the park

MATT GIL'S sculpture, Vagrant, was recently installed by the artist in the Frances Adler Elkins Park, next to the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art. Its name alludes to the movement within the interior of the piece that has no end — that never stops. It is composed of fabricated aluminum plate, and is painted a luminous pumpkin orange. A graduate of San Jose State University, Gil also has works in the collections of the San Jose Museum of Art, San Francisco Museum of Modern Art and Syntex Laboratories in Palo Alto.

A 60-year resident of the Central Coast, Louisa Jenkins gained early recognition as mosaicist, watercolorist and oil painter. She was a member of the cadre of artists who settled in Big Sur in the 1940s and longtime friends included Buckminster Fuller, Ansel Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Robinson Jeffers.

Generally known as a mosaicist, Louisa Jenkins had her first one-woman show at Gumps in San Francisco. Numerous commissions followed, including wall mosaics for the Mount Angel Abbey in Portland, Oregon, and St. Ann's Chapel in Palo Alto. In 1966, she completed a series of six-foot scrolls inspired by the theology of Teilhard de Chardin.

Mrs. Jenkins was also an avid scuba diver, skier and golfer and enjoyed undersea exploration until the age of 70. She died earlier this year.

Like Mrs. Jenkins, Dora Hagemeyer was active in Carmel's early artistic and literary community, publishing her first book of poetry in 1929 and eventually publishing nearly 20 additional booklets of poems.

In 1948, Mrs. Hagemeyer made her debut as a painter in a one-woman exhibit at the Carmel Art Association where she was lauded as "the poet with the brush."

Although she worked in several mediums, including atmospheric watercolors, Mrs. Hagemeyer made a life-long study of wild flowers and weeds growing in the area. Mrs. Hagemeyer died earlier this year.

Algar, who continues to paint and work in Carmel, began working for Disney Studios when he became an animator for Snow White and went on to write, direct and produce for the studio.

A longtime visitor to Carmel, Algar is a member of studio 15 at Sunset Center and continues to work in pastel despite suffering a severe stroke a few years ago.

A reception for the exhibit will be held from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday, Jan. 6th at the Cherry Gallery, Fourth and Guadalupe, Carmel.

The exhibit can be seen from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., Monday through Saturday.

JAZZ TIDES

By John Detro

Good works, good play

MAY 1990 bring you good works and good play in bright and healthful portions. So far the new Jazz Year looks most promising.

Hidden Valley Music Seminars will showcase master bassist Red Mitchell on Friday night (1/5) at the Carmel Valley facility. It's $8 per with an eight o'clock kick.

This's another of the concerts produced by local jazzman Buddy Jones under long-term agreement with Hidden Valley. Buddy says Berkeley pianist Dick Whittington will join Mitchell on duo excursions — "and Red'll play some piano things as well."

Red Mitchell's first steady jazz gig came in 1948 at the Onyx Club on roily, broiling 52nd Street of Manhattan. Over the years he worked with Jackie Paris, Chubby Jackson's Big Band (on piano), Charlie Ventura, Billie Holiday, Woody Herman, Mundell Lowe, Red Norvo, Hampton Hawes, Ben Webster, Gerry Mulligan, on and on. Billy Higgins made his recording debut in the Mitchell group that had late and wondrous pianist Lorraine Geller plus James Clay on tenor. Red became first bassist at MGM Studios (1959).

He moved to Stockholm after Dr. King and Bobby Kennedy were slain. There he plays with Swedish musicians and visiting pals. His jazz course entitled Communication has won much attention. Stateside tours and album sessions occur regularly. Red also composes, sometimes singing his "new old standards" for audiences.

• The quintet fronted by alto saxist Virginia Mayhew and trumpeter Rebecca Franks returns to the Sheraton's Monterey Bay Club on Wednesday evening (1/10). Rebecca learned from now-retired Don Keller at Aptos High and was a Monterey Jazz Festival student star. The New Yorkers say their first CD will be released this month out of the important Italian label called Black Saint.

Other MBC bookings: Santa Cruz fusion band Château Beauvine (1/4), Kevin Feeney and What's Up (1/5-6), Bob Phillips with Terry Miller (1/7), Don Pendergrass and friends (1/8), Jack and Ed Show (1/9), Madeline Eastman's stylish vocals (1/11).

• Strong trombonists Steve Turre and Robin Eubanks hit Kuumbwa Jazz Center in Santa Cruz on Monday evening (1/8). Superb rhythm section: Kei Akagi (piano), drummer Tommy Campbell, Charnett Moffett on bass.

Costs $12 apiece and starts at eight o'clock. Center Stage Ticketing.

• New Age pianist George Winston will present a solo concert at Steinbeck Forum on Friday night (1/5). Dancing Cat Productions announces the date as an earthquake relief benefit — $16 per with Center Stage handling advance treatment.

Winston sought help too for Second Harvest and Alliance on Aging. Each person attending is asked to bring a can of food. Point: enrich those vittles banks.

• Excellent solo guitarist Jeff Linsky continues at Monterey Plaza Hotel on Cannery Row. Friday and Saturday evenings. Lobby Lounge.

THIS MONTH'S down beat magazine tries to get a handle on jazz developments of the '90s. Various pros make forecasts. Monterey Jazz Festival Music Director Bill Berry:

"There seems to be quite a trend back towards acoustic instruments. Synthesizers and drum machines have obvious uses, but I see them being utilized less because you need human input in jazz. I work with kids at the Monterey Jazz Festival and when I ask them who their favorite player is they all seem to say Clifford Brown!

"I haven't seen any new innovations that I can predict will develop. I'd say that all of the different jazz styles will continue to be strong, from the avant garde back to Jelly Roll Morton. Bebop is much stronger now than 10 or 15 years ago. Melody is once again becoming more important and I see that trend continuing throughout the '90s.

"They make much better horns than they used to and the microphones that Dizzy and Miles have that can be attached to the bell of the trumpet are also a good improvement. But I don't see technological change improving the work situation in this country for jazz. There's no substitute for playing in public on the road and it's a shame that the younger people cannot get that experience."

YOUNG REEDMAN Don Paul McCaslin also came up through the Don Keller program and Monterey Jazz Festival student system. These days he works in vibist Gary Burton's unit, which was part of the seventh annual "floating jazz festival" aboard S.S. Norway.

Critic Leonard Feather notes that the playbill included sax giants — Phil Woods, David Newman, Red Holloway, Benny Carter, Flip Phillips — "with 23-year-old McCaslin all but stealing the show from everyone in a wild tenor foray."

ONE OF MY favorite jazz radio hosts — Ben Ellman over at KUSP-FM — has a new time slot. Now he's on from midnight till two Tuesday morns.

That was the show done by jazz pianist Graham Connah. Graham takes Tuesday afternoons (3-5).

WALKING HISTORY — Bassist Red Mitchell will make an appearance at Hidden Valley Music Seminars. See jazz column. (James Gudeman photo.)

Ben said station management "has someone waiting in the wings" to handle his old Monday morning hours (2-5).

ADD QUAKE RELIEF: Remember the three-site benefit and accompanying telethon produced in November by Bill Graham and KQED? Well, the first distribution of funds has occurred — $1.3 million into emergency aid coffers.

Bill and KQED's Tony Tiano held a San Francisco press conference. They said that total included a "special one-time gift" of $100,000 to St. Patrick's Church at Watsonville. The house of worship suffered major structural damage.

Santa Cruz and Watsonville got checks for $200,000 apiece. The next distribution was scheduled later this month (1/22).

The two men said more than 22,000 individuals responded with financial gifts. Trust services for funds raised have been donated by Security Pacific National Bank.

TRANSITIONS: Lucy Keepnews died suddenly in San Francisco. Heart attack. Wife and constant companion of jazz writer and record producer Orrin; jazz journalist Peter's mother. Countless musicians liked her a whole lot.

He defined on-air dignity for jazz broadcasters everywhere. And craftsmanship. Longtime Los Angeles deejay Jim Gosa died at home. Cancer. Age 58.

An auto crash near Healdsburg killed vocalist and percussionist Patti Santos. Investigators said she was driving alone when her car plowed into some trees. Patti's performances brought forth vigor, charm, skill. She had been working in Sonoma County.

Hot young filmmaker Spike Lee's forthcoming flick will star Denzel Washington as leader of a New York jazz group. More on this next time.

Reserve in advance to visit Ano Nuevo elephant seals

GUIDED WALKS to see the elephant seals at Ano Nuevo State Reserve will continue every day through March 31.

The reserve is west of Highway 1, 20 miles north of Santa Cruz (30 minutes driving time), and 30 miles south of Half Moon Bay (45 minutes driving time).

Individual reservations may be made by phone through the statewide computerized reservation system operated by Mistix, by phoning the toll-free number, in California, 1-800-444-7275 (1-800-444-PARK). The reservation fee is $2 per person. The entrance fee to the Reserve is $3 per vehicle, paid at the Reserve.

Reservations for elephant seal walks must be made at least 10 days in advance. No refunds will be made for any reason unless the Reserve cancels a walk.

Guided walks will be conducted seven days a week, rain or shine. However, the weather can be very cold and windy, even on sunny days. Rain is also frequent. Visitors should always have appropriate rain gear and woolen clothing. Umbrellas are not practical because of frequent high winds. Food and beverages are not sold at the reserve, and there is no drinking water along the trail. Eating and smoking are prohibited during the walk.

The first guided walk of every day will begin at approximately 9 a.m. and the last walk in mid-afternoon. The total time for a walk is two and a half hours; the total walking distance is three miles over sandy, rolling dunes. Each walk will begin on time; visitors who are late (five minutes or more) will forfeit their reservations. Youth groups require chaperones (age 21 or older), who are included in the total group size (maximum of 20) and who are expected to oversee the group's behavior. For ages 5-13, one chaperone is required for every four youths; for ages 14-18, one chaperone is required for every nine youths.

Reservations for disabled groups may be made beginning November 6 by phoning the reserve office at (415) 879-0595.

San Mateo Transit also offers Saturday and Sunday tour packages. Advance reservations are required. The fee includes round trip bus fare and a guided walk ticket. Phone (415) 348-SEAL for information and reservations.

Ano Nuevo State Reserve is the site of one of the only two mainland breeding colonies in the world for the northern elephant seal, and the interpretive program has attracted increasing interest every winter for the past 14 years. People who hope to see the seals during the breeding season this winter are urged to get their reservations early.

The dunes area of the reserve will be closed except for the official guided walks through March. Similar closures and guided walk programs since 1975 have allowed a natural development of the elephant seal herd. The mainland herd has increased during that time from only 35 males to more than 2500 animals, including more than 600 pups born there last winter.

Volunteer docents from the surrounding community and from U.C. Santa Cruz take an intensive two-and-a-half-month (65-hour) training course, given by the California State Park System, prior to the breeding season. During the guided walks, they and Reserve staff will lead visitors among the huge marine mammals in their natural habitat and explain both the story of the elephant seals and the other natural and cultural history of the area.

The elephant seal breeding season is December through March. The bulls arrive first, in early December. The females begin arriving in late December and continue arriving through February. Most of the adults are gone by mid-March, but the weaned pups remain until late April. The elephant seals are at Ano Nuevo during the summer to molt — the females and juveniles in April and May, the sub-adult males in June and July, and the adult males in August and September.

For more information on the elephant seals, the guided walk program, and other features of the reserve, phone (415) 879-0595.

Conservation Corps seeks new volunteers

FOR YOUNG women interested in working outdoors to build parks and trails, plant trees, and fight fires, openings are available now in the California Conservation Corps.

The CCC is hiring women and men between the ages of 18 and 23 for a challenging year of natural resource work. After two weeks of training, corpsmembers will be assigned to one of 18 residential centers throughout the state; there are also more than 30 non-residential locations available.

State CCC Director Bud Sheble hopes more women will take advantage of the Corps to explore non-traditional job opportunities.

"We've had many young women discover future careers through the construction and landscaping skills they've developed in the CCC," said Sheble. "Others have gone on to become firefighters with the emergency experience they've gained in the Corps."

Along with job skills, Sheble said corpsmembers have a chance to further their education while in the CCC. Those who haven't finished high school work toward GEDs; community college classes are available, tuition-free, to those with diplomas. Sheble added that when corpsmembers graduate after one year, they receive a $400 cash bonus as well as an additional $800 if they continue their education at least part-time.

"For those young women who may be seeking a career, but aren't quite sure which direction to pursue, we think the CCC offers a great start in life," said Sheble.

For application forms or more information on the program, contact the nearest CCC center or call, toll-free 1-800-952-JOBS.

'New York, New York'

WILLIAM GILES' manipulated Polaroids, titled New York, New York, will be featured at a gala champagne opening with live music on Friday, Jan. 5. The reception is set 7 to 9 p.m. at Portofino Cafe, located downstairs in the Pacific Grove Plaza, 620 Lighthouse Ave., Pacific Grove. Amelia Jones of the L.A. Times Weekly reports, "Mr. Giles has made a voyage through tradition to the unknown, producing a hallucinatory, collective portrait of New York, enlarging them two-foot-by-two-foot, forcing taxi cabs, fire escapes and the Empire State Building to ooze and squirm under his glorious pyromaniacal meltdown. Run, don't walk to see this show."

Art council accepts grant applications

The California Arts Council was formed in 1976 to promote artistic awareness and participation in California.

Grantees may apply in one of the following disciplines: dance, interdisciplinary, literature, media, multi-disciplinary arts, music, theater, visual arts and arts service and presenting organizations.

Deadline for the 1990-91 Organizational Support Program is Feb. 1. For an application or information on this or other arts council programs contact the California Arts Council, 1901 Broadway, Suite A, Sacramento, CA 95818; (415) 445-1530.

Cooper-Molera visitor center opens

The Monterey State Historic Park, Cooper-Molera Visitor Center, located on the corner of Polk and Munras in Monterey, is now open daily except Wednesdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

The Visitor Center contains displays on the history of Monterey and the Cooper family members who had an impact on early California history.

Use toll-free line for park reservations

There is a toll-free telephone number for making reservations at California State Parks through the MISTIX reservation system — 1-800-444-7275.

Reservations from out-of-state callers will still be made through the toll number of 1-619-452-1950.

The toll-free number is not only for state park camping reservations, but also for Hearst Castle tours.

Art museum trains docents

A six-week docent orientation program will begin in January at the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art. Training includes lectures, oral presentations and tour workshops, followed by on-the-job training. The first session is set 10 a.m. to noon Monday, Jan. 8. Additional sessions will meet on consecutive Mondays through Feb. 26.

Docents serve as volunteers, working three hours each month in the docent office, conducting tours for adults and childrens, providing Tea Cup tours for senior citizens, and assisting with research and the installation of exhibitions. They also enjoy educational programs, exhibition briefings and field trips.

Applications and additional information are available at the museum office or by calling Susan DuCoeur, 624-3708.

Hepburn, Grant co-star in 'Holiday'

George Cukor directed the 1938 comedy, Holiday, which stars Katharine Hepburn and Cary Grant. Holiday will be screened Thursday, Jan. 4 in the community room of Monterey Public Library, 625 Pacific St., Monterey.

Admission to the film, which begins at 7 p.m., is free.

Master photographer

LAKE PAZ is among the images by Brett Weston that can be viewed at Photography West Gallery. The collection includes works from Weston's newest book, titled Master Photographer, which provides a chronological overview of the artist's 65-year career in photography. Photography West is located on Dolores Street near Ocean Avenue in Carmel-by-the-Sea, and is open from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

ROUNDUP

Mensa schedules qualifying test

Mensa, the international high I.Q. society, will administer qualifying tests in Monterey on Saturday, Jan. 27. For reservations, write to Francis Cartier, 1029 Forest Ave., Pacific Grove, CA 93950, before Jan. 17.

Mensa, which has chapters throughout the world, is open to anyone whose score on standard I.Q. tests is in the top 2 percent. There are absolutely no other restrictions on membership. A person may already qualify for Mensa whose score on the S.A.T. or certain other tests was above the 98th percentile (one out of 50 in the population).

For information about Mensa International or Monterey County Mensa, call 449-6398.

Trager's watercolors exhibited

Helen G. Trager is the featured artist for the month of January at the Carmel Foundation. Her works can be viewed in the gallery located at the foundation, Lincoln and Eighth, Carmel.

A native New Yorker, Trager has served in various educational institutions in the United States and Asia as teacher, researcher and consultant. She has taught at Vassar, Brooklyn and Barnard colleges and directed research for the Bureau for Intercultural Education and the Bank Street College of Education.

During 1951-53, she was a visiting professor at the University of Rangoon, Burma, and in 1959 she served as U.S. Consultant on Education to the then Royal Government of Afghanistan. In 1961-63 she was associate director, University Division of the Peace Corps, Washington, D.C. At the end of that assignment she "retired" with her husband to live in South Salem, N.Y.

Since moving to Carmel in 1982, Trager launched a new career — painting.

Shop the Farmers' Market

Fresh vegetables and fruit sold by the farmers who grew them are the feature of the Farmers' Market. The market is in operation 2:30 to 6 p.m. Thursdays at Monterey Peninsula College and 8 a.m. to noon Sundays at Hartnell College in Salinas.

A variety of local produce is available at the market, including fresh vegetables, fruit, nuts, honey, mushrooms, sprouts, flowers, nursery stock, dried fruit and eggs.

For further information, call 423-7308.

Public tours of Tor House: Docent-led tours of Tor House, Hawk Tower, and the Old World gardens of poet Robinson Jeffers are conducted 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. each Friday and Saturday at the house on Ocean View Boulevard, Carmel. Tax deductible cost is $5 for adults, $3.50 for college students, and $1.50 for high school students. No children under 12 are permitted. Reservations are a necessity. Call 624-1813.

Concert: The Yale Russian Chorus, an a cappella singing group, will perform folk, liturgical, classical and contemporary music of Russia and other Soviet provinces. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Sunset Theater, San Carlos at Ninth, Carmel. Admission is $6. For details, call 624-3996.

Earthquake relief benefit concert: George Winston, solo pianist, will perform his "Winter Show" for the benefit of earthquake victims. The concert will begin at 8 p.m. in Steinbeck Forum at the Monterey Conference Center, Del Monte and Alvarado, Monterey. Tickets are $16. Bring a can of food to donate to the needy. To charge by phone, call 649-5561.

Monterey Institute International Film Series: Isabelle Adjani stars as the daughter of novelist Victor Hugo in The Story of Adele H., a love story directed by Francois Truffaut. The 1975 film will be shown in French with subtitles. 8:15 p.m. in S.F.B. Morse Auditorium at the Monterey Institute of International Studies, 440 Van Buren St., Monterey. Admission is $4 general, $3 for students and senior citizens. For information, call 626-1730.

Complete theater listings: Check On Stage.

Saturday/6

Whale watching benefit cruise: The Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Cetacean Society sponsors this two-hour cruise around Monterey Bay. Naturalists will explain and answer questions about the wildlife. The $15 fee is tax-deductible and will be donated in full to the society. The "Top Gun" will depart promptly at 7 a.m. from Monterey Sport Fishing on Fisherman's Wharf. Information: 625-2120.

Walk: The Sierra Club sponsors this visit to the home of poet Robinson Jeffers. The tour includes a trip to the top of Hawk Tower and a sample of Jeffers' verse. A short beach walk follows, weather permitting. Meet 11:45 a.m. at Tor House. Group size is limited. There is a $5 donation to the Tor House Foundation. Bring lunch and shoes suitable for walking in sand. For reservations, call 724-8107.

Walk: The Sierra Club sponsors this leisurely walk down Hatton Canyon, home of the endangered Hickman's Onion, and many creatures of the pine forest and riparian wetlands. Meet 11 a.m. behind the Bank of America in the Crossroads, Rio Road off Highway 1, Carmel, to arrange a shuttle by car to Carpenter Street. Bring lunch to enjoy at a scenic point. Information: 624-3921.

Monterey Bay Aquarium

IT'S STATE-OF-THE-ART, affording an up-close and personal view of some 525 species of fishes, mammals, birds, invertebrates and plants found in Monterey Bay.

The Monterey Bay Aquarium, constructed "in the footprint" of the Hovden Cannery on the west end of Cannery Row — opened to the public in October 1984. A $50 million gift from David and Lucile Packard of Silicon Valley fame made into reality the conversion of a former cannery site into a celebration of colorful and complex Monterey Bay marine life, from sharks to brittlestars to sea otters.

Open 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. daily except Christmas, the Monterey Bay Aquarium houses 23 major indoor and outdoor galleries and exhibits focusing on the many habitats of Monterey Bay. The aquarium is now a self-supporting, non-profit entity.

Rooflines and even lighting fixtures echo the original Cannery Row style documented by John Steinbeck in his 1945 novel of the same name. Visitors entering the aquarium walk past the original Hovden Cannery boilers, pumphouse and warehouse. These were virtually the only features that could be salvaged from the structure. The rest of the aquarium is new and strictly high-tech. Its 33 major exhibit windows, manufactured by Mitsubishi Rayon of Japan, include panels that are seven and one-quarter inches thick and weight 2.73 tons each. Two 16-inch diameter, 980-foot-long intake lines draw up to 2,050 gallons of sea water per minute from a depth of 55 feet in Monterey Bay. The seawater system permits varying levels of filtration — depending on the needs of the 6,500 specimens that live in the aquarium. These levels range from raw seawater to pressure-sand filtered, de-embolyzed seawater.

And then there are the animals. The Monterey Bay Aquarium is a place where visitors can gaze up into the cathedral-like branches of a kelp forest as a diver explains its intricacies from the other side of a seven-inch-thick window, stare eye-to-eye with a tank's worth of frisky sea otters and brave petting a bat ray that has no stinger.

Virtually all of its inhabitants can be found in Monterey Bay.

Also described by many as "a gawker," the third-of-a-million gallon Kelp Forest exhibit presents a diver's-eye view of a complex undersea community. The exhibit can be viewed from three levels within the aquarium, and houses a towering forest of Macrocystis pyrifera, the California coastline's giant kelp. Jets hidden in the rockwork walls and a surge machine maintain the constant water motion kelp requires. This seaweed, which locally grows up to 10 inches a day, forms a canopy open to the sunlight at the surface.

Also in the "gawker" category is the Monterey Bay Habitats exhibit, a 90-foot-long, hourglass-shaped tank that depicts four bay habitats: the deep reefs, sandy seafloor, shale reefs and the wharf. Large sharks, bat rays, salmon, striped bass and other open-ocean fishes roam the Monterey Bay exhibit. Viewers have a choice to observe the goings-on through bubble-shaped windows or a series of massive acrylic panes.

An interlocking series of habitat galleries and interpretive exhibits explores the facts, myths and mysteries of marine life in the region. Here the curious may study an elegant chambered nautilus

THIS 335,000 gallon exhibit represents a diver's view of a towering kelp forest community. As giant kelp needs sunlight and wave motion to survive, the 28-foot-high tank is open to the sky. Jets hidden in the rockwork and a surge machine maintain vital water movement.

hovering in mid-water, sleek and speedy squid, the giant octopus, hermit crabs, sand dollars and dozens of other oceanic denizens.

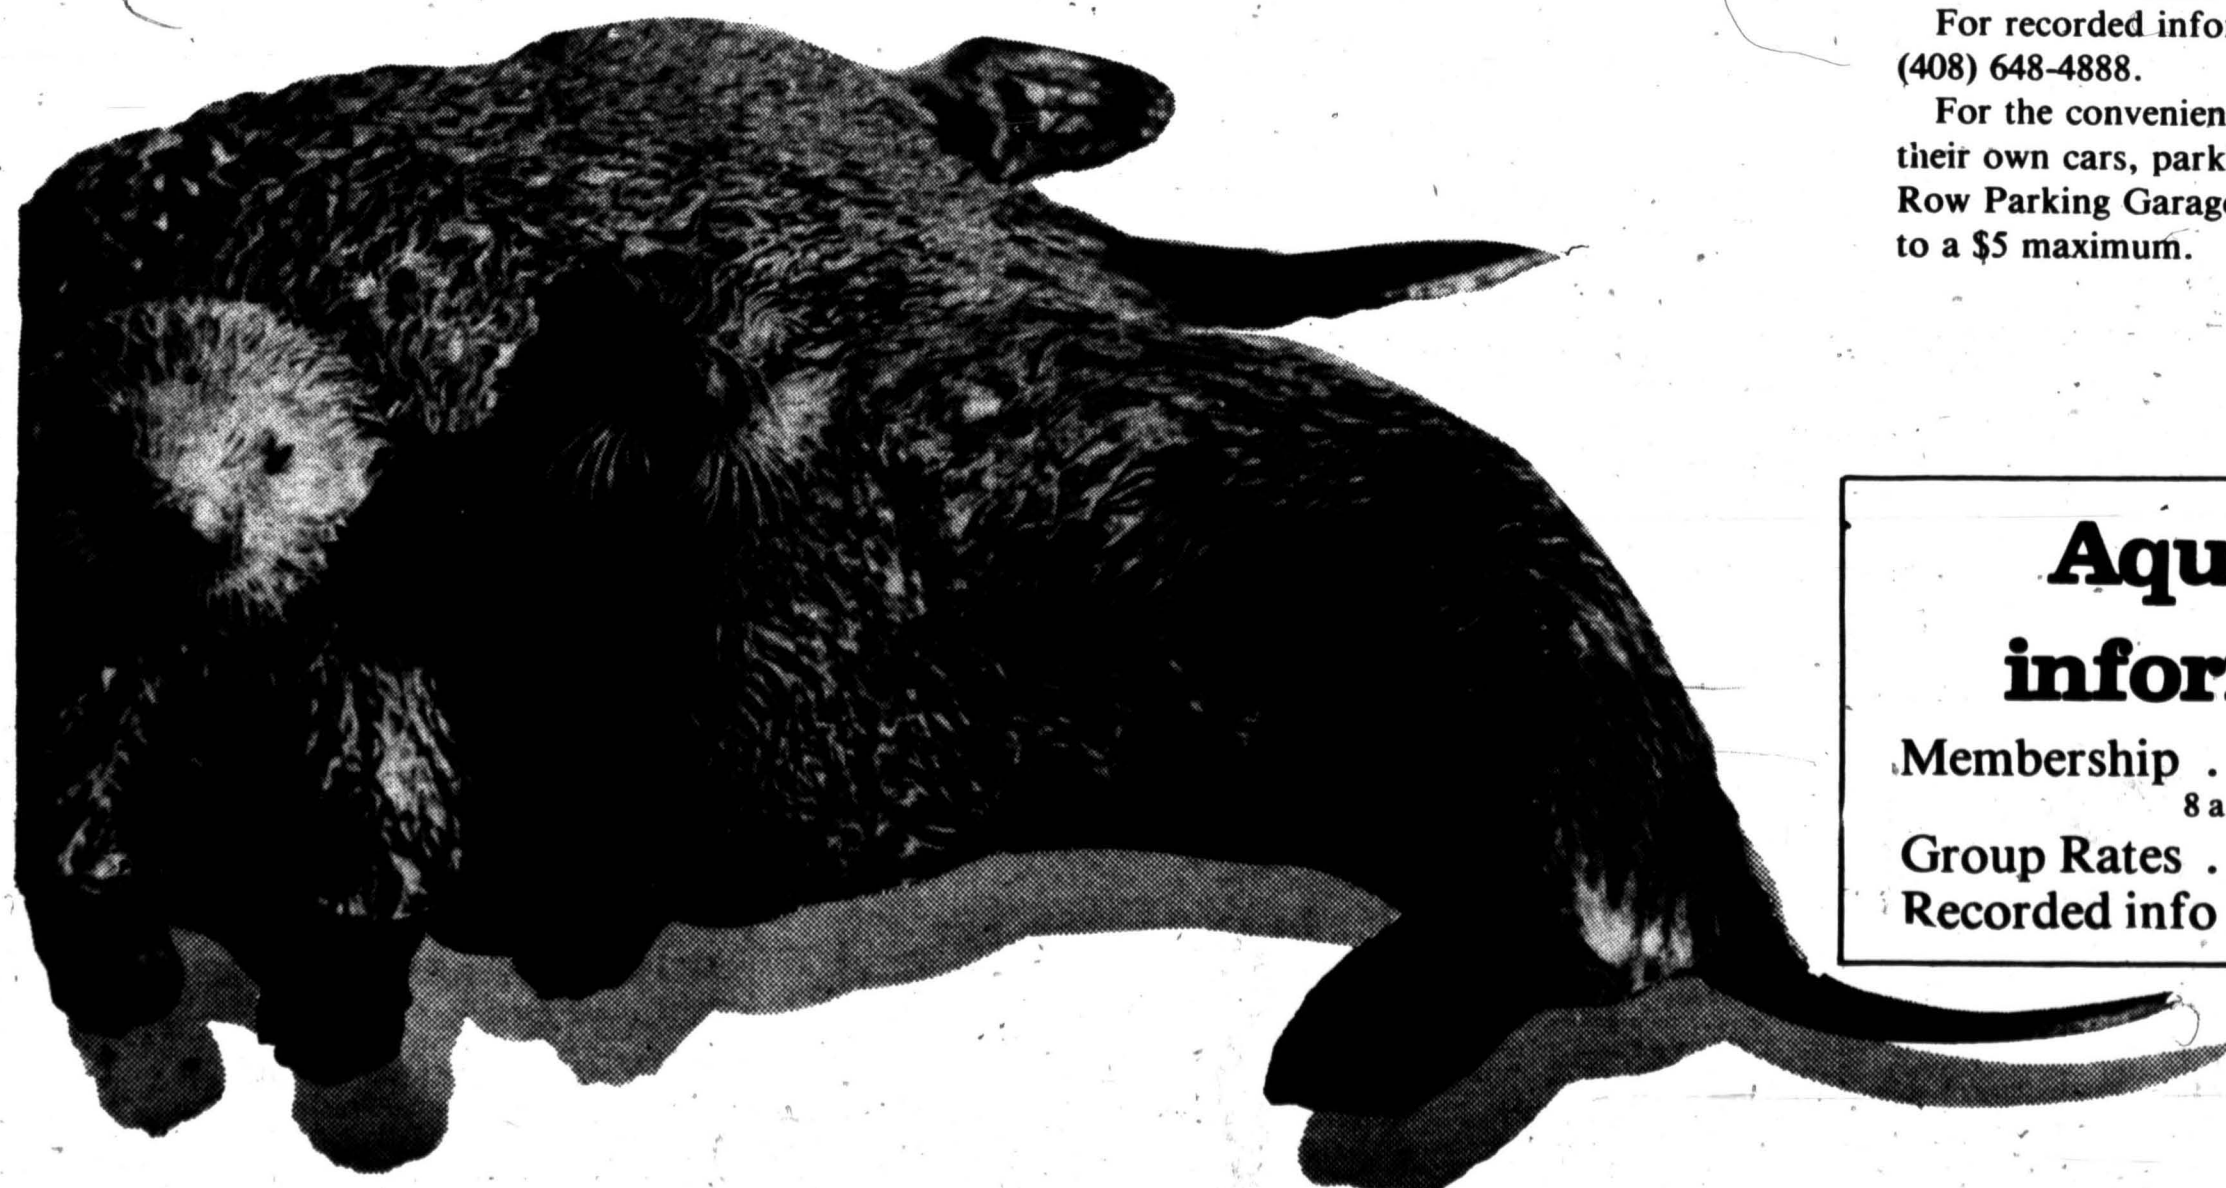

The Monterey Bay Aquarium operates many programs, including research and education. Approximately 100,000 persons are members, entitling them to unlimited admission, a newsletter, special programs and other benefits. For details, call the Membership Department, (408) 648-4880.

The Monterey Bay Aquarium is located at 886 Cannery Row on its west end, between the borders of Monterey and Pacific Grove. Admission is $7 general, $5 for students and senior citizens (65 and over), $3 for children ages 3 through 12. Group rates for 20 or more are available by reservation. Call (408) 648-4860, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. Monday through Friday. Tickets can also be pre-ordered through Ticketron outlets. There are no Ticketron outlets on the Monterey Peninsula, however.

All exhibits are wheelchair-accessible.

For recorded information about the aquarium, call (408) 648-4888.

For the convenience of aquarium visitors who have their own cars, parking is available at the Cannery Row Parking Garage. Rates are 75 cents per hour, up to a $5 maximum.

NOTICE OF DEATH AND OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF: CATHERINE BRADLEY QUINN, also known as Catherine B. Quinn, also known as C.B. Quinn

Case number MP 11198
Attorney or party without attorney: THOMAS. SNELL, JAMISON, RUSSELL AND ASPERGER, Roger E. Fipps, 028071, P.O. Box 1461, Fresno, CA 93716, Attorney for Petitioners.

Superior Court of California, County of Monterey, 1200 Aquajito Road, Monterey, Ca 93940. Estate of CATHERINE BRADLEY QUINN, also known as Catherine B. Quinn, also known as C.B. Quinn, decedent.

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may be otherwise interested in the will or estate, or both, of: Catherine Bradley Quinn, also known as Catherine B. Quinn, also known as C.B. Quinn

A PETITION has been filed by Daniel N. Cunningham and Avey Quinn Gibbs in the Superior Court of California, County of Monterey requesting that Daniel N. Cunningham and Avey Quinn Gibbs be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates act. (This authority allows the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain actions, however, the personal representative is required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to this petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on Jan. 12, 1990 at 9:30 a.m. located at 1200 Aquajito Road, Monterey, California.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should either appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney.

IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the deceased, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within four months from the date of first issuance of letters as provided in section 9100 of the California Probate Code. The time for filing claims will not expire prior to four months from the date of the hearing noticed above.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a formal Request for Special Notice of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in section 1250 of the California Probate Code. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

Attorney for petitioner: Roger E. Fipps, Attorney, Thomas, Snell, Jamison, Russell and Asperger, P.O. Box 1461, Fresno, CA 93716. Publication Dates: Dec. 19, 21, Jan. 4, 1989.

MONTEREY PENINSULA PROPERTIES GUIDE

Films from France screened

The Monterey Institute International Film Series will screen The Story of Adele H and La Femme Infidele.

Francois Truffaut directed The Story of Adele H, to be shown Friday through Sunday, Jan. 5-7. Isabelle Adjani portrays Adele Hugo, younger daughter of novelist Victor Hugo, who was virtually destroyed by her unrequited love for an egocentric British lieutenant. The 1975 film will be shown in French with subtitles.

The Wednesday, Jan. 10 film offering is La Femme Infidele. This 1968 black comedy offers an elegant, sensual and intelligent story of adultery and murder as directed by Claude Chabrol. It is also in French with subtitles.

All films begin 8:15 p.m. in S.F.B. Morse Auditorium at the Monterey Institute of International Studies, 440 Van Buren St., Monterey. Admission is $4 general, $3 for students and senior citizens. For information, call 626-1730.

Writers Exchange meets monthly

The Writers Exchange meets every second Tuesday from 1 to 3 p.m. at Seaside Public Library. For more information about this free program, call 375-0542.

Course focuses on California

The Gentrain Program at Monterey Peninsula College will offer a special half-unit Wintersession course, "California Heritage: Missions and Museums." The class will meet 10 a.m. to noon and 1 to 3 p.m. on Jan. 9 and 11.

The course will complement the Gentrain Jan. 12-15 tour to Los Angeles. Grant Voth, Rick Janick, Alison Schwyzer and Kent Seavey will lecture on the mission system and its art and architecture. They will also provide background material for the Los Angeles tour that will include visits to Mission San Juan Capistrano, the Norton Simon Museum and the Huntington Museum.

Register through Jan. 5 in the MPC Admissions and Records office. For information, call 646-4224.

'Goodbye, Mr. Chips' screened

The "Great Films of 1939" series continues in Sunset Theater, Carmel, with the presentation of Goodbye, Mr. Chips.

Robert Donat and Greer Garson co-star in this film classic, which will be screened at 8 p.m. Tuesday, Jan. 9. Sunset Theater is on San Carlos Street at Ninth Avenue, Carmel. Admission is $2.50. For details, call 624-3996.

Benefit whale watching cruise set

The Monterey Bay Chapter of the American Cetacean Society will sponsor a "Whale Watching Benefit Cruise" on Saturday, Jan. 6. The two-hour cruise is offered by Monterey Sport Fishing aboard "Top Gun."

Whale watchers should arrive at 6:30 a.m. and be ready to board at 6:45 a.m. for a prompt departure at 7 a.m. The cost is $15 per person, with all proceeds to be donated to the Cetacean Society.

Local naturalists, including Alan Baldrige and Jud Vandever, will be on board to talk about the whales and answer questions. The donation is tax-deductible. For information, call 625-2120.

ENCHANTED OAKS

WHEN YOU think "Carmel charm," this might be just the kind of enchanting building you have in mind. Attractive from the street, it offers a facade of half-timbered and brick construction, and it's on several levels, with a cute little court shaded by oak trees in the middle of the upper level. The property is occupied by three shops and a studio apartment. The building is highly visible, there's good foot traffic, and the block it's on is being upgraded. A fine investment for the long term! $850,000.

INCOME

IN DOWNTOWN Carmel, near the new branch of the library...two structures on a 40 by 100-foot lot, housing a total of four offices. There is slightly more than 1500 square feet of leasable space. The property was completely remodeled and updated in the recent past, and it shows very well. Call us for details. $675,000.

CHOICE LOCATION

THIS HOME is starting to look like the best buy in Carmel when you consider the Hatton Fields location and the incredible potential of this property. The house stands on a level lot about three-quarters of an acre in size. The landscaping is well established, with oak trees and a pretty rose garden. The living room is huge, and there are three bedrooms and two baths, and there's a quiet patio in the rear. We'll be the first to admit there's a lot of work to be done, but when you're finished you'll have a million dollar property! NOW $610,000.

BE THE FIRST

TO LIVE in this handsome home on a newly landscaped five-acre parcel on Jack's Peak. Close to everything—airport, courthouse, hospital, highway, stables, and Santa Catalina School. Built of the finest materials, this quality home is ideal for your family, and ever so suitable for entertaining. There's about 4000 square feet of eminently livable space, including three bonus rooms. Ready for your moving van! $799,000.

CARMEL VALLEY PARADISE

An extra special kitchen and spacious family room highlight this wonderful California Ranch home! The custom, grey-washed kitchen features saltillo tile, and new range, compactor and dishwasher plus pantry. The huge family room flows from the kitchen with glass doors to lush gardens and a koi pond. The living room and formal dining room enjoy a massive, raised-hearth fireplace and wet bar. The four bedroom floor plan features a master suite with huge wardrobe and a private deck with hot tub. There's a large laundry room, lots of storage space, plus a double garage. $495,000.

CLOSE-IN HOME + ACREAGE A CARMEL VALLEY CLASSIC

Two vintage homes of redwood, with beamed ceilings, and 2 smashing Carmel stone fireplaces. The main home is one great room with bath and kitchen. The semi-attached artists' studio becomes the ideal retreat, while the upstairs "crow's nest" master suite boasts views aplenty. The value of this prime property lies primarily in the level land — there's approximately 6.5 acres with mountain views and country serenity. The ideal close-in location is just 10 minutes from the mouth of Carmel Valley, with possibilities for a minor subdivision. $640,000.

CARMEL ADOBE!

Walk to Carmel Mission, or even to shops at The Crossroads from this unique 3 bedroom, 2 bath adobe home. A courtyard entry and secluded patio off an ideal, corner-lot setting. You'll love the glistening hardwood floors, and totally remodeled kitchen with oak cabinetry, tile, butcherblock, parquet floors, built-in microwave and breakfast area. The living room with its inviting fireplace and open-beamed, redwood ceilings, opens to the courtyard. Quality-built on an oversized lot. $339,000.

CARMEL HIGHLANDS

Included with this newer 2 bedroom, 2 bath home are plans for a 440 Sq. Ft. addition! Slate entry and step-down living room with slate fireplace, natural wood, and open beamed ceilings, create a grand space with dining alcove, large deck and garden views. The master bedroom suite includes triple wardrobes, dressing alcove, skylight and shutters. A well equipped kitchen boasts double ovens and leads to oversized, double garage. The large, nearly-half acre lot provides an ideal setting amidst the pines, with a sheltered and sunny patio/entry. Offered at $425,000.

YOUR LOT IN LIFE! PRIME BUILDING SITES

Owner states that water is available for this outstanding 2.5 acre parcel at Garland Park and Carmel River—price has been reduced from $250,000 to $179,000!!! Palo Colorado 1 acre parcel with year-round stream, $48,000—Palo Colorado, 2-five acre parcels with magnificent ridgetop ocean views, $170,000 for both—Carmel Valley nearly level lot near the Village with commercial zoning, $114,000.

CARMEL CAPTIVATING

Completely rebuilt with Carmel charm, that unmistakable touch of Gail Lehman and Associates shines through in this sharp 3 bedroom, 2 bath home. The living room features a private deck, open beamed ceilings, corner fireplace and window seat. A sun-drenched kitchen uses white tile and flows to dining area with two window seats. A downstairs bedroom boasts wooden French doors to the back garden, while the master suite has raised hearth fireplace, open beams, Jacuzzi plus shower and walk-in closet. $695,000

CARMEL

BLOCK TO BEACH!

On an oversized double lot, a 6-bedroom, 5-bath Mediterranean home with lovely ocean views seen from the second story. This grand vacation home of the Zellerbach family, built in the 1920s, exhibits the quality & craftsmanship of that era. There are hardwood floors, tile accents, open-beamed ceilings & a fireplace, in the large living room with built-in bookcases, dining area & French doors opening to an enclosed brick patio. Upstairs is the large master suite with balcony & a sun porch capturing sunset sea views. $1,985,000. 625-0300 or 625-4111.

CARMEL KNOLLS HOME!

Ideal for in-law quarters are 3 separate living areas among its 6 bedrooms, 5-1/2 baths, 4 fireplaces & 4 separate entries! Light & airy main level is enhanced by hardwood floors, open-beam ceilings with track lighting & large windows. The family room is off the living room with cozy window seat. Dining area with wet bar opens to large kitchen. Master suite occupies upper level; Lower level has 2 living areas—each with living room, bedroom & bath. $525,000. 625-0300.

PT. LOBOS VIEWS!

On a prime, oversized corner lot within walking distance to the beach, a two-story contemporary designed by architect John Gamble. Its reverse floor plan permits lovely views of Point Lobos & the sea from the second floor living room with fireplace and dining area. The pastoral setting of the Fish Ranch and lagoon are seen from the kitchen updated in '84. There are 3 bedrooms & 2 baths with an outside spiral staircase leading from the master bedroom to decking & hot tub. Ideal as a weekend or for a couple! $539,000. 647-7494.

PT. LOBOS VIEWS!

An immaculate, delightful Carmel Woods family home overlooking gorgeous views of Point Lobos & the ocean from major living areas & master bedroom. Bright and sunny, with a generous-sized deck, there is a family room/studio which is a nice bonus area and could be used as an office or exercise room. Appealing features include a tiled entry, brick fireplace with raised-hearth warming the spacious living room, a formal dining room with large-tile breakfast bar opening to the cheerful kitchen, a library/den, 3 bedrooms & 2 baths, plus a utility room off the kitchen. $585,000. 625-4111.

OCEAN VIEW HOME!

Situated at the very top of Carmel, a totally restructured, spacious sea-view home. Builder has remodeled, rebuilt, restored and enlarged this prime property to a state of perfection. It features 4 bedrooms, including a magnificent ocean-view 850 sq. ft. master suite with sitting room, patio wet bar & private entry. There is a family room, living room, formal dining room and sumptuous kitchen. A view deck offers a quiet place to watch waves crash on Carmel Point or sunsets simmer over Pebble Beach. $799,000. 625-0300.

PACIFIC GROVE

PEEK OF THE SEA!

Absolutely charming, an immaculate 2-bedroom, 1-1/4-bath home in a wonderful location off 17-mile Drive. Offering a peek of the sea, appealing features include a fireplace in a large living room, formal dining room, darling kitchen. Enhanced by good use of plantation shutters, used brick and Carmel stone. $329,000. 647-7494.

CARMEL VALLEY

ENGLISH COUNTRY TUDOR!

A fabulous, meticulously-built home on 1.7 landscaped acres only minutes drive from Carmel. Timeless in character, flawless in design, this estate home offers exquisite wall & window coverings with coordinated hand-painted tiles, sinks, & mirrors by Marzi. High ceilings in the generous-sized rooms add spaciousness & outstanding features include 4 fireplaces, 4 bedrooms, 7 bathrooms, wonderful "great room" off dream kitchen, play room, solarium/sunroom, large office, mirrored exercise room & more! English flower gardens, private well, spa, tennis court, gazebo & gated entry. $2,200,000. 625-0300.

INVESTMENT PROPERTY, TOO!

Capturing 360-degree spectacular valley views from its highest point is this 176-acre property located only 50 minutes from Highway 1. Consisting of 4 parcels of level-to-rolling hills and offering a Steinbeck country feeling, this beautifully located property with C.V. Road frontage is ideal for raising horses, for agricultural purposes or for vineyards! Agricultural Consulting Service, Inc. has noted, "90% of the property will qualify for the growing of grapes...the temperature lends itself perfectly for growing of premium type grapes." Exceptional view property with its own well. $375,000. 655-0300.

LA RANCHERIA HOME!

Beautiful valley views plus design & workmanship have made this home very desirable! Adobe walls line the circular drive, and there are 3 spacious bedrooms, 2 baths plus a powder room. Enjoy formal or casual dining — served from the custom, deluxe kitchen, and a family room with wood-burning stove. The house has a wine storage room, 4 fireplaces, wet bar, 1800 sq. ft. of decking, a corral & more. All set on 1.6 landscaped acres enhanced by majestic oaks! $795,000. 625-4111.

VIEWS, ACREAGE & HOME!

Looking for a wonderful retreat offering privacy, lovely valley views with room for horses near Carmel Village? Read on! Well located on 16 1/2 acres (2 legal lots of record) with Carmel Valley Road access, a beamed-ceiling, 3-bedroom redwood home offering southern exposure. There's a spacious view deck on level-to-sloping acreage, a Butler barn, stalls, paddock & horse arena. Cal-Am water & water tank on parcel. $695,000. 625-4111.

PEBBLE BEACH

Privately set behind gates on nearly an acre is this elegant, beautifully designed home capturing ocean views from the major living areas & master suite. Dramatic-entry hall opens to the inviting living room with 5 sets of French doors, marble fireplace & built-in bookcases. A glassed-in sun room is nearby. Handsome formal dining room is ideal for family dining or entertaining. Light & airy coffered-ceiling family room with fireplace opens to the kitchen. Private library has fireplace. There are rich dark-wood floors, tall ceilings & windows & total of 3-bedrooms & 3-1/2-baths $2,500,000. 625-4111.

COUNTRY CLUB HAVEN!

On a corner lot within easy walking and golf cart distance to the clubhouse of MPCC, a neat and clean 3-bedroom, 2-1/2-bath home. There is new carpeting over hardwood floors in the living room, with fireplace, the spacious family room and hallway. Plus parquet entry, formal dining room, central vacuum, and a roof that's only 4 years old. $389,500. 625-0300.
